

Pathfinder Plane Finds Enthusiasm High at All Cities

Promises of Support Given at Griffin, Columbus, LaGrange, Americus and Albany.

ALBANY OFFERS WARM WELCOME

Prominent Citizens and Officials of Airport Greet Pathfinding Party at Night Control.

BY N. S. NOBLE.
City Editor, The Constitution.
Albany, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)— Welcomed by large groups of "air-minded" citizens and city and county officials at every stop on the route
the "All-Georgia Air Tour" pathfinding party completed its first day at 5:12 o'clock this afternoon by landing on one of the finest airports in the south. Seen from the air, Albany's municipal field is a pilot's dream suddenly brought to realization.

The reception received by the pathfinders, Pilot G. A. Shelly, of Texas Air Transport Flying school, at Candler field, and the writer, the tour business manager, at Griffin, La-Grange, Columbus, Americus and Albany was enthusiastic and predicted such a success for the coming air tour, which is being sponsored by The Constitution at the invitation of the tour committee, that it assures the project becoming the greatest move in the development of aviation that could be taken in the state.

Albany, the first control night of the four-day trail-blazing flight, sent it most prominent citizens and officials to the airport to welcome the Texas Air Transport Curtiss Robin.
The party was taken to the Gordon hotel, where accommodations had been reserved and the fliers were dinner guests of the Albany "All-Georgia Air Tour" committee at Radium Springs tonight.

The flight today was most successful. Griffin was reached a few minutes late, but the pathfinder plane dropped to Callaway field, LaGrange, 25 minutes early. The Curtiss Robin reached on the dot at 12 noon. Here bad weather and poor visibility prevented a start until it cleared. Albany was reached only 12 minutes after the scheduled time.

Airports Ready.
The airports at LaGrange, Columbus, Americus and Albany easily will accommodate the flight squadron of the tour. Griffin's field is small, but every means will be taken to get it into shape and properly marked for the fliers if that city is on the route.

The Columbus greeting to the first aerial trail blazer of the Georgia history of aeronautics took the form of a full committee meeting at the airport and a drive into Columbus, where the committee was met at a luncheon to the pathfinder party.

The plans of the air tour and its educational purposes were explained and for the city, City Manager Henry B. Crawford offered complete cooperation. The Senior and Junior Chamber of Commerce members on the committee stated that they would take up with their respective organizations just what form the entertainment would take when the tour reaches Columbus.

Columbus Committee.
The Columbus committee, all members of which were at the luncheon, is composed of J. Ralston Cargill, chairman; J. E. Chace, Henry B.
Crawford, E. Perry Burns, Julian Holman, Nolan Murrah and Reuben Kyle.

When we reached Callaway field, the LaGrange airport, three miles from the center of the city, we were 25 minutes ahead of schedule. In a few minutes automobiles had brought a large number of the LaGrange "All-Georgia Air Tour" committee.

GEORGIA SOLONS VOICE SENTIMENT FOR ROAD BONDS

Many Legislators Already on Hand for Wednesday Opening—Organization To Be Completed Quickly.

BY PAUL S. EVENSON.
By motor and by train members of the Georgia general assembly are arriving in Atlanta ready for the biennial session which begins Wednesday, and from expressions of early arrivals in the hotel lobbies the general sentiment among the legislators in favor of a bond issue for paved roads in Georgia is stronger than ever before noted in that body.

Leaders of the legislative body were on hand early Monday busy with organization plans. State Senator W. Cecil Neill, who will be the next president of the senate in all probability, opened headquarters on the mezzanine floor of the Ansley hotel. Richard B. Russell, Jr., representative from Bartow county, opened headquarters in the time-honored Kimball house and both were alive all day in shaking hands with friends.

This year the "Monday crowd" was larger than for many years. Usually the bulk of the members selects Tuesday as the day for the journey to Atlanta but there are so many interesting battles looming ahead that many wanted to get in early and place the well-known ear to the equally well-known ground.

This Year or Never.
"If the legislature does not vote for a bond issue at this session we might as well kiss a bond issue goodbye forever and also wave adieu to all prospects of a completed highway system in five years," was the way one member expressed it Monday and this apparently is the opinion of many of the most influential leaders of the two branches.

Organization of the two branches Wednesday will be completed quickly and with little rancor. Usually there is a hot battle on hand for the presidency of the senate and sometimes an equally hot fight over the presidency but with both these big problems settled in advance the legislature will be down to business a few minutes after the session opens Wednesday.

The senate, Major D. F. Mc-Clatchey, veteran secretary of that body, will call the senate to order and declare that nominations for the presidency are in order. There will be only one candidate named seriously for this post and that will be Senator Neill, who probably will be selected by acclamation. The same situation will exist in the house with Speaker Russell succeeding himself in the speaker's chair.

Other Problems.
Taxation problems, reorganization of the state highway department along lines that will bring the backing of a $100,000,000 bond issue, will be the two big topics to be settled and it is about these topics that members talked Monday.

Governor L. G. Hardman, in his message, will recommend the strictest economy in conducting the state's affairs and will advise the legislature to approve such recommendations as much as possible.

The publication of a report that the budget commission is ready to recommend $3,000,000 reductions in appropriations for state departments brought the statement from the executive department that the governor had not authorized the publication of such recommendations. He is chairman of the budget commission and also of the examining commission which is composed of almost the same personnel. It is learned that the examining commission will submit a report advising that appropriate be made on the same scale as at present. Both the budgeting commission

Pathfinder Plane Blazes Air Trail

The Pathfinder plane, which took off Monday to prepare the way for the "All-Georgia Air Tour," found the enthusiasm high at all points visited. At the top is the staunch Curtiss "Robin" in which the trip is being made is shown. Below, N. S. Noble, city editor of The Constitution, at the left, is going over a map of the route to be covered with Pilot George C. Shelly.

SPAIN YET HOPES FOR LOST AIRMEN

Destroyers and Planes Scour Ocean for Franco and Aides, Lost for Three Days.

Madrid, June 24.—(United News.)
The government, having ordered destroyers, airplanes and submarines to search a wide area for the missing trans-Atlantic seaplane of Commander Ramon Franco, issued an official note tonight characterizing the three-day absence of the plane as disturbing but not hopeless.

Seaworthiness of the big two-motored Dornier-Wal "16" plane, favorable weather prevailing in the region of the Azores islands, where the four aviators were last believed to be flying, and the energetic efforts of the government to rescue them were cited to keep up the rapidly dwindling hope of the public.

Comb Huge Area.

Official circles generally believed that the Spanish plane had been forced down on the water between Portugal and the Azores islands. The possibility that they had attempted a non-stop flight to America and passed the islands was considered, however, and one of the government destroyers was ordered to comb a zone 100 miles northwest of the Azores.

Colonel Alfredo Kündelands, head of the government air service, estimated that the plane could keep aloft in favorable weather for two weeks, but the four fliers had very little food or water, and their plight would be desperate in a short time.

Military wireless officials and the government foreign office scouted an unconfirmed wireless report that an abandoned seaplane had been sighted near the Azores.

Rumor Is Unfounded.
The foreign office and the military wireless station said they had no knowledge of the rumor, which purported to quote wireless messages from an unidentified source.

Commander Franco's companions on the flight, which started from Algazarras seaplane base near Cartagena
Friday afternoon, were Major Eudoro Gallardo, Captain Ruiz De Alda and Pedro Madariaga, mechanic.

The usual number of rumors and unfounded reports of hearing or seeing an airplane which "might have been" the Spanish fliers were current in Madrid tonight, but there were none that provided a definite base for the direction of rescue work.

In view of the absence of official reports, the government took the attitude that the fliers probably had been forced down early Saturday before they reached the Azores. This was believed probably because the radio communication with the fliers ceased about that time, indicating that they had landed. The radio operates only when in flight.

Hard to Start.
Lieutenant Colonel Gonzalo, who witnessed the departure from Algazarras base, expressed the opinion that "it would not be surprising" if the motors of the big plane broke down as a result of the terrific strain placed on them by their heavy load. He said an "enormous effort" was required before Franco got the plane off the water after a run of several miles.

Meanwhile, a delegation of aviators visited the British embassy and asked that, in case an airplane carrier is available at Gibraltar, if the vessel could be used to aid planes in excess of the family. H. M. Patterson & Son will announce the arrangements when completed.

FEDERAL OFFICIAL INJURED IN FIGHT

J. J. Griffin May Have Fractured Skull—E. L.
Hardegree Charged With Disorderly Conduct.

J. J. Griffin, of Stone Mountain, deputy collector in the federal internal revenue department, was taken to Grady hospital Monday afternoon suffering from severe lacerations about the face and head and with a possibly fractured skull as the result of an altercation with E. L. Hardegree, of 1372 Sylvan road, according to police reports.

The argument which led to the exchange of blows between the two men took place in the Cuban Cigar Company plant at 142 1-2 Edgewood avenue, and according to Griffin, was started when Hardegree tried to draw him into a discussion in regard to the present republican administration and its attitude toward the negro.

Griffin was seen Monday night by Patrolman Wiley and his version of the affair was given to a Constitution reporter as follows:

"I went to the offices of the Cuban Cigar Company was in the act of exchanging some government stamps when Hardegree came up and attempted to engage me in conversation about the DePriest incident. I naturally had no desire to discuss politics at such a time and told him so. He then proceeded to curse me and I knocked him down with my fist. He arose and struck me with some blunt instrument."

Causes of disorderly conduct were made against both men. Eyewitnesses said that the two men were in agreement that the plan was to start a discussion on politics was responsible for starting it. It was also stated that from all appearances, both men had made free use of a short iron bar and that when the peace-makers intervened, Griffin was grasping the bar in his hand and was being held by Hardegree to prevent its use.

Griffin, who works out of the office of the Internal Revenue Collector J. T.
Rose, in the postoffice building, covers the general assignment of cigar companies. Monday afternoon he visited the cigar factory on Edgewood avenue, where Hardegree is said to be employed, and undertook the examination of the company's books with reference to a tax matter.

Call officers Goode and Carroll investigated the case and served copies of charges of disorderly conduct on both men, after which Hardegree was released. Recorder Murphy M. Holway set the hearing for 4:30 o'clock the afternoon of June 28.

'STRONGHEART' DOG HERO OF FILM DOM, DIES OF DISEASES

Hollywood, Cal., June 24.—(AP)— Strongheart, dog hero of the movies, died today at the home of his owner,
Miss Jane Murfin. He was 13 years old. A complication of diseases, following an operation several months ago, caused his death.

Trained in Berlin police kennels, Strongheart served with the German Red Cross during the World War.
He was brought to America after the war and introduced to the silent screen by Miss Murfin and Larry Trimble, his trainer.

His first picture, "The Silent Call," established him as an animal star.
Later film successes were "Drawn of the North," "The Love Master,"
"White Fang," and "North Star."

REFUSAL TO REVEAL SOURCE OF WEALTH HELD AS CONTEMPT

MAYOR RAGSDALE IS READY TO SIGN ANNEXATION PAPER

Special Session Proposal Dropped—Friends of Measure Will Hold Meeting To Decide Next Step.

Probability that proponents will seek a special session of city council to insist on passage of another annexation measure failed Monday when Mayor I. N. Ragdsdale joined the ranks of the annexationists and assumed the role of advisor, declaring that if council approves a measure to extend the city limits, he will approve it and send it to the Georgia legislature for action of that body.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, of the twelfth ward, chairman of the charter revision committee of council and author of a paper intended to increase the area of Atlanta 22 square miles and add about 25,000 persons to the city, stated Monday night that he would not seek a special council session but that he would bring the matter before council at its session Monday.

Annexationists in Majority.
Mr. Gilliam is regarded as the spokesman for the annexation group in council, which, spurred by the tidal wave of public sentiment in favor of annexing outlying districts "which should be a part of the city," is being increased daily. The wing favoring annexation has a clear majority of council at this time, with prospect that it will be augmented by several other members of council who heretofore have opposed annexation.

Strong pressure will be brought to bear on council members by their constituents, who are said to feel that they have failed to represent them in preference to influential persons who live outside the city at the present time, it was declared.

Hundreds of Atlantans Monday were registering their disapproval of the veto Saturday of the annexation paper by Mayor Pro Tem, Robert F.
Pennington. Sentiment in favor of the annexation mounted with every prospect that council will pass a measure to its session next Monday and send it to Mayor Ragdsdale for his sanction.

Mayor Surprised.
The mayor Monday declared he was surprised at the failure of Mr. Pennington to sign the measure and declared if he failed to sign the measure he would have approved it.

"The only thing to do at this time is to take the vetoed paper back to council and attempt to pass it," Mayor Ragdsdale said. "If that fails, it can be introduced and sent to me for my approval. I will sign it if I can get it approved by council for a momentary session of council would accomplish nothing."

"I tried to stay in Atlanta but just had to leave the city. I hurried back, but too late to prevent the veto, never thinking that it would meet such a fate. I could have waited action of the mayor until Tuesday morning. If I had thought the measure would have been vetoed, I would have stayed here."

Mayor Pro Tem Pennington has declared he would approve the measure if he were not so busy with his duties. He would also vote for such an extension, he said.

Alderman Gilliam declared that a meeting of the charter revision committee will be called for Wednesday or Thursday and that definite decision will be made as to the plan which the annexationists will champion.

Many Calls Received.
"I have had hundreds of telephone calls from Atlantans insisting that we proceed and annex the territory. I have been unable to attend to the calls of a few who live in the affected sector," Mr. Gilliam said.

Atlantans are impatient at the delay in this group to dictate to the council. They feel that council members should protect the best interests of the city and not be influenced or intimidated by those who are not citizens. We propose to fight this issue on the floor of city council at its session Monday, feeling that the city's best interests can be served better if we send the measure to the legislature.

Young Bride Of Day Lost By Red Mohun

Wedding in El Paso Reveals Flier Had Divorced Atlanta Wife.

El Paso, Texas, June 24.—(Special.)—Annulment of her marriage early Monday morning to Phillip (Red) Mohun on grounds she had failed to obtain a divorce from her former husband will be sought by the rebel flier's 20-year-old bride, Alice Sparks Boucher, she announced today.

Mohun and Mrs. Boucher met Sunday afternoon in a Juarez cafe. At midnight they were joined by a newly married couple and at the sound of the wedding march, played in honor of the bride and groom, Mohun and his companion suddenly left the place.
It was revealed today they had driven to Las Cruces, New Mexico, obtained a license at 2 a. m. and were married by a justice of the peace half an hour later.

Today Mohun's bride admitted she was married to Murray Boucher in 1927 and that although she had lived with him only two weeks, neither she nor he had obtained a divorce. The district attorney's office refused to say whether or not bigamy charges will be filed against the woman.

"I always wanted to marry a flier," she said. "I told Red so last night and he said, 'Come on, Honey, let's go.' We did. Mohun said today she was divorced from his Atlanta wife at Tampa, Fla., in 1928.

Mrs. Phillip Mohun at her home Monday night admitted that her flier husband had obtained the decree in Tampa but stated that there were certain irregularities upon which she could contest the action should she see fit. She claims that Mohun had not lived in Florida long enough to obtain the decree.

Mrs. Mohun explained that she had never seen any need for contesting the action nor for suing on her part.

TRIAL OF DR. SNOOK SET FOR JULY 22

Confessed Slayer of Theora Hix Pleads Not Guilty of Murder When Arraigned.

Columbus, Ohio, June 24.—(AP)—
Dr. James Howard Snook, university professor and confessed hammer slayer of Theora Hix, 25, Ohio State college, will go on trial on charges of first degree murder in Columbus here July 22 unless he obtains a change of venue, which his attorneys indicated they might seek when Dr. Snook was arraigned today.

Dr. Snook stood before a crowd that jammed Criminal Judge Robert Duncan's courtroom and entered a plea of not guilty to the indictment charging him with "maliciously and premeditatedly" killing the co-ed.

As he stood up he cast his eyes over the room and they caught for a moment the eyes of another man who stood erect and defiant. The other man was Melvin T. Hix, retired educator and father of the slain college girl. His eyes met only for a moment, then Dr. Snook bowed his head, moistened his lips and turned away.

He spoke the words, "not guilty," calmly and distinctly. Aside from the dramatic moment when his eyes met those of Mr. Hix, he displayed the calm demeanor that he has exhibited since the time since his arrest ten days ago.

County Prosecutor John J. Chester then asked that the trial date be set for the morning of July 22, and Judge Duncan set the 22nd as the date.

Dr. Snook confessed last Thursday that he hammered Miss Hix into unconsciousness on a darkened ridge range on the rim of the city a week before then severed her jugular vein with his pocket knife "to end her suffering."

He said he killed the co-ed because she had threatened to kill his wife and baby.

Assistant United States District Attorney W. B. Bartels said today that the federal investigation thus far had not brought to light any connection between the slaying and drug traffic.

GEORGIA MOTHER FINDS SON THOUGHT DEAD SINCE WAR

Macon, Ga., June 24.—(AP)—A Georgia mother who last saw her son when he went overseas with the American Expeditionary Forces during the World War, has located him in Hammond, Ind., United States Attorney W. A. Bootle, of the middle district of Georgia, announced today.

Both Mrs. Fannie Endora Lightner, Albany, Ga., and her son, John Earl Cooksey, thought the other dead, Mr.
Bootle said.

The son was located in Hammond last Monday, believing him dead after years of futile waiting for his return from the California army post from which he was discharged, sought to recover on his $10,000 war risk insurance policy.

Government agents began a search for Cooksey, locating him recently in the Indiana city. Mother and son will be reunited soon, Mr. Bootle indicated.

DEMOCRAT MAYOR OF NEW JERSEY PUT UNDER ARREST

Legislature Takes Action Against Hague, Party Vice Chairman, for Silence to Questions.

MAYOR IS FACING JAIL SENTENCE

Second Attempt Made To Force Answer to Queries Fails and Special Group Acts.

Trenton, N. J., June 24.—(AP)— Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, vice chairman of the national democratic committee, was arrested tonight on a warrant charging contempt of the state legislature for refusing to answer questions concerning the acquisition of his reputed wealth. He was given 24 hours in which to obtain a writ of habeas corpus, remaining during that period in the custody of Marine Detwitt, sergeant-at-arms of the state senate.

Coming after the legislature fortified itself with the advice of Owen J.
Roberts, who told republican leaders of New Jersey "not to be discouraged" since it took him five years to get Harry F. Sinclair into jail for ignoring questions asked him by the United States senate, the arrest was the second Hague experienced in his battle with the law-makers.

His first was last fall, when he defied the subpoena of the Case investigating committee, the original body which inquired into charges of political corruption and the mayor's administration and leadership.

Six-Month Term Possible.
Today's action was authorized by chapter 1 of the laws of 1929, an act introduced by Senator Clarence E.
Case, chairman of the original committee, after Hague attacked the power of the legislature to cause his arrest last year. The maximum penalty
he would face if the legislature voted a conviction, would be six months in jail.

The mayor's arrest was an event more or less on schedule for several months. The committee, headed by Senator Albert R. McAllister, of Cumberland, after the appointment of Senator Case to the legislature committee, after Hague attacked the power of the legislature to cause his arrest last year. The maximum penalty
he would face if the legislature voted a conviction, would be six months in jail.

Asked Questions Again.
This afternoon, in a hot and stuffy chamber crowded by members of both houses sitting in the original joint session, he was asked the questions over again. Hague announced long ago that he again would refuse to answer.

HEARINGS ON NEW ELECTRICITY RATES WILL OPEN TODAY

Hearings on the proposed revision in residential electric power rates affecting three Georgia electric companies will be held Tuesday by the Georgia Public Service Commission. The concerns involved are the South Georgia Power Company of Valdosta, the Columbus Electric and Power Company of Columbus, and the Savannah Electric and Power Company. A similar hearing of the Nelson-Ball Ground Telephone Company to show reason why service rates should not be reduced is scheduled on the commission docket for Wednesday. It is expected that all hearings will require several sittings.

AIKEN CASE CROWDS TURNER-DONELSON TRIAL OF DOCKET

The trial of R. C. Turner, former city electrician, and Sam Donelson, an electrical contractor, jointly indicted for alleged fraud in connection with the letting of city contracts, Monday was removed from the superior court calendar to make way for the murder trial of Sam F. Aiken. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said he would set a new date for the Turner-Donelson trial in a few days. Aiken will go on trial before a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' court on the morning of July 2. He is charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his wife, Annie Mae, and Boyce Hunter, "friend of the family."

N. A. A. GIVEN REPORTS ON PROPOSED ROUTES

Hallman Sees Atlanta as South's Aviation Center.

Reports of recent committee meetings in New Orleans and Washington on the proposed new transcontinental passenger and air mail route were made at the regular meeting of the Atlanta chapter of the National Aeronautical Association at the Chamber of Commerce building Monday afternoon.

Henderson Hallman, Georgia governor of the N. A. A., stated that the reception accorded Atlanta representatives had been most cordial and that he thought Atlanta's future as the aviation center of the south was already assured.

C. C. Brooks, commercial attaché of the department of commerce in Montevideo, and Major Luke Christopher, secretary of the contest committee of the national association, were among the prominent guests present and both made short speeches.

Major Christopher came here from Kansas where he has just been officiating as flight commander of the second all-Kansas air tour. He declared that such a project as is now being sponsored for Georgia by The Constitution would undoubtedly prove of great benefit in advancing aviation and public interest in aviation along all lines.

Mr. Brooks gave a vivid picture of the rapid advances being made in aviation in many South American countries declaring that in many instances planes have supplanted mule teams as a means of transportation, reducing traveling between certain points from weeks to hours. He predicted that regular passenger service between North and South America would soon be an established fact.

L. G. Mason, a representative of the Montgomery school of aeronautics, a subsidiary of the Southern Air Express, which opened a new passenger route here Monday, was also in attendance.

Impersonator's Life Not Happy One, Says Barrios

BY LLOYD A. WILHOIT.

Like that of a policeman, a female impersonator's lot is not a happy one. Take the word of Jean Barrios, who for the past eight years has donned wig and gown and sung high falsetto so realistically that theater audiences from coast to coast have wondered whether he was a man or a woman.

This week Mr. Barrios, who is billed as "America's foremost female impersonator," is playing Loew's Capitol theater as headline attraction. Monday morning bright and early I dropped in to see him with his troupe and found him a dark, thin fellow with a bored voice—patiently explaining his queues to the orchestra leader of the local playhouse while a small army of stage hands raised and lowered drops and yelled hoarse directions across the wings.

"Yes, it's a hard life," Barrios told me. "There are just a few of us female impersonators left on the stage today, and every year the ranks get thinner. The public is much more critical of our work today than in the past. It's got to the point where a man must have the voice of Galli-Curiel, the figure of Billy Dove and the beauty of Corinne Griffith to get by."

To prove that the life is anything but soft, Mr. Barrios went on to explain that it takes him just exactly one hour to get his costume on and skilfully arranged, and to make up to look just as good or better than a woman.

"That means three hours a day spent in painting your face and blacking your eyebrows," he said, "with a fourth hour thrown in on Saturday."

Then, too, a female impersonator must make and continue making a close study of women—their movements, their clothes, their fads. "It's attention to little details like trimness of ankle, the turn of the wrist or hand, the shrug of a shoulder or the inflexion of the voice that makes success in this game," he pointed out. "One masculine word or gesture would spoil an entire act. Yes, it's a hard life; but I get a great kick out of doing my work in a way that brings real approval from an audience."

Barrios got into female impersonating as the result of a try-out with a California high school show. He has won national attention during his stage career, and now heads one of Loew's bills—and a mighty good headline act he is said to present.

The last I saw of him Monday, he was applying a razor to a heavy growth of beard and promising himself the luxury of a bath after a long train ride to Atlanta.

CHAMBER LEADERS TO SPEAK TONIGHT TO PILOTS' CLUB

Benjamin S. Barker, executive vice president representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Wilbur Colvin, secretary, representing the woman's division of the chamber, will be guests of honor and principal speakers at a meeting of the recently organized Pilot Club at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the Tavern, corner of Broad and Poplar streets.

Millionth Frigidaire To Be Displayed Here As Celebration Opens

A replica of the millionth Frigidaire will be placed on display tomorrow by the Atlanta branch. Built as high explosive bombs crashed an aerial salute above the factories in Dayton, the one millionth unit was recently shipped by airplane to Atlantic City for exhibit at a national convention.

Presentation of the newest Frigidaire, which has been designated the "million model," will signal the beginning of a country-wide celebration of the entrance of Frigidaire Corporation into the million users class, it was said. Featuring the celebration will be a cold control demonstration week, which will begin June 25. Refreshments will be served and a souvenir recipe booklet given to all visitors.

The "Million Model" is finished in porcelain enamel, inside and out, provides eight square feet of shelf space, and is equipped with the Frigidaire cold control.

Atlanta Streets Being Decorated For N.E.A. Hosts

Decoration of Atlanta streets for the National Education Association convention was begun Monday under the direction of Virgil Shepard, chairman of the street decoration committee. Atlanta's official colors, deep blue and gold, will form the color scheme of the decorations.

The auditorium decoration work has been completed, and the street decoration will be finished by Thursday afternoon. The convention opens Friday.

All main thoroughfares leading to the auditorium will be decorated. "We are going to make it easier for the delegates to find their way around the city," Mr. Shepard said. "By following the decorations from Five Points to the auditorium, the delegates will avoid being lost on their way to and from the meetings."

Downtown whitewash posts will be decorated with shields bearing the names of the states and island possessions of the United States.

A request has been made to Atlanta merchants for their co-operation with the committee in decorating stores and business places for the convention. Special decoration schemes worked out by the committee are available for use of merchants who desire them.

ASSEMBLY TO GET OFFER OF RHODES HOME AT ONCE

Plans for asking the state assembly formally to accept the house offered by the late A. G. Rhodes as a home for the Georgia department of history and archives were made Monday at the annual meeting of the historical commission in the governor's office.

Appointment of a committee to take charge of securing acceptance of the gift was the principal business of the session. The committee is to consist of Governor Hardman, George M. Napier, attorney-general, and Miss Ruth Blair, state historian. The building in question is located on Peachtree street, near the intersection of Spring street. If accepted by the legislature it will become the headquarters of the department, which is now located in Room 302 at the state capitol.

WESLEY HOUSE WOMAN'S CLUB GIVES PICNIC

The Woman's Club of Wesley Community House gave a picnic at Lakeview park Monday night for husbands and children of the members. A basket lunch was spread at 6:30 o'clock and members of the party attended the exhibition of free movies on the midway and enjoyed the rides. Arrangements for the outing were in charge of Miss Bessie Allen, head resident.

MORE MONEY ASKED FOR PUBLIC WELFARE

Recommendations for Enlarging Personnel Made in Annual Report.

Recommendations for increasing the appropriation and enlarging the personnel of the department of public welfare are made in the biennial report of the department issued Monday for the years 1927 and 1928. Comer M. Woodward, executive secretary of the welfare department, in presenting the report to the governor and legislature, summarizes the welfare board's activity since the last legislative session and publishes statistics gathered from an exhaustive survey of state conditions.

Figures gathered from the reports of numerous state agencies for relief of the poor showed that a total of $321,430 was expended during the single year 1928 for assisting the poor in their own homes. This amount was based on the activities of 100 counties, returns from others being incomplete. The amount of $138,945 was spent maintaining poverty-stricken individuals at 25 of the state's 58 almshouses.

23 MEN SAVED FROM BOAT AFIRE NEAR HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., June 24.—(AP)—Twenty-three men, the entire crew of the Gloucester auxiliary fishing schooner Acushla, were brought into Halifax last night by the Lunenburg schooner Good Luck. The Acushla was abandoned on fire on the Grand Banks Thursday. The fire started in the Acushla's engine room Thursday morning and as there was a large amount of crude oil on board the crew immediately took to the dories. A number of minor explosions occurred after the schooner was abandoned, and when the crew was picked up by the Good Luck Thursday afternoon the Acushla had burned to the water's edge. The Acushla was a vessel of about 100 tons.

10,000-Mile Hike in Search Of Health To Start Today

D. M. GORDON READY FOR TWO-YEAR JAUNT

One man's idea of a pleasant rest will be started bright and early this morning by D. M. Gordon, former resident of Washington, D. C., who has made his home in Atlanta.

All day today and perhaps for several days thereafter, Gordon may be seen hiking along the road between Atlanta and Chattanooga, his first important stopping point. Thence to Nashville, St. Louis and across the middle west to the Pacific coast, the trail of the hike originating in Atlanta today will lead.

Gordon's sole companion will be a 45-pound pack, thrown over his back and balanced by a couple of water canteens. Although he expects later on to be doing as much as 30 miles a day, and making milk the chief constituent of his diet, Gordon expects to gain and improve his health and digestion by the strenuous "rest cure."

The hiker, who is 32 years old, spent many years of his life managing a garage in Washington, to be stricken finally by carbon monoxide gas poisoning. He found his salvation in long walks in the fresh air of the country districts. After a trip to Florida, Gordon hit upon the idea of a 10,000-mile hike and came to Atlanta to get his equipment, consisting of sleeping bag, air mattress, rubber poncho, first aid kit, change of clothing and food.

A typical day's menu through which Gordon hopes to gain weight and satisfy an appetite engendered by much walking, would consist of a pint of milk and dried peaches or other cereal for breakfast, a pint to a quart of milk and a pint of raisins for lunch and a supper of string beans, or a can of pork and beans, supplemented about twice a week by a little meat. Gordon intends to spend one and a half to two years on the hike, and little of anything else.

PEACOX TRIAL FOR WIFE'S MURDER IS POSTPONED

White Plains, N. Y., June 24.—Trial of Earl Francis Peacock for the murder of his young wife, Dorothy, was postponed today until September 16 after District Attorney Frank A. Coyne said the state was unprepared to begin the prosecution. Peacock was indicted after the charred body of his wife was found in a roadside thicket in West Chester. Police assert he has confessed strangling her to death and then setting the body afire after first sprinkling it with kerosene. The couple had been estranged.

GUNMAN SLAIN FOR ATTEMPT TO GET INTO PARTNERSHIP

Kansas City, June 24.—(AP)—An attempt by a Chicago gunman, Ben Barrett, to force his way into a partnership with a group of gangsters, was held responsible by police tonight for his death and that of Arthur Hartman, of St. Louis, in a shooting fray in front of a hotel here Saturday night.

Neil Pumphrey, of Memphis, Tenn., who was wounded in both arms, is in a hospital while two others who were in the group are still at large, having made their escape immediately after the fight.

After making an investigation and questioning Pumphrey, police said the wounded man and Hartman were seeking financial assistance in the promotion of gambling resorts at Linn Creek, Mo., where 3,000 men soon will be employed in the construction of the Ragnell dam. Barrett, who lived at the hotel in front of which the shooting took place, was seeking to gain entrance into the ring over the objections of Hartman and Pumphrey because of his police record in several other cities, police alleged.

SUFFRAGE ALLIANCE RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

Berlin, June 24.—(AP)—The executive board of the Women's International Suffrage Alliance re-elected its officers today for a new term of three years. Mrs. Corbett Ashby, of England, was re-elected as president. Since all officers of the alliance are Europeans, the board voted to establish a committee to work out liaison between the continents.

Strain Upon Truth

The strain upon truth in advertising becomes too great when the public is told that other cigarettes enjoy the toasting process. It takes three years to produce Lucky Strike's flavor. This unrivaled cigarette is a blend of finest tobaccos from each of three consecutive growths—the cream of the crop. Then comes the secret toasting process which in the opinion of 20,679* physicians makes Lucky Strike less irritating than other cigarettes. This exclusive heat treatment also purifies the tobacco and adds a touch of nut-sweet flavor—appetizing, delicious, different—the earmark of one of the world's most popular products.

Perils of Air Mail Trails Related in Special Series

The Constitution presents the tenth of a series of articles which show the dangers attending the duties of Rough Riders of the Air Mail, written exclusively by air mail pilots for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance. This interesting feature will be carried daily.

BY DONALD B. JOHNSTON.
Mail Pilot on Pitcairn Route From New York to Richmond.
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

FLYING BLIND AT 100 MILES AN HOUR.

My worst experience flying the mail, so far, occurred last winter. It occupied only 10 minutes, but it seemed more like a matter of hours to me.

I had just started on the New York-to-Richmond night run after a month of practice over the route. I flew into a snowstorm and kept going at 90 or 100 miles an hour, though the snow was so thick I could see virtually nothing. There was nothing to do but try to climb through it. I could not have seen how to set the plane down if I had tried.

To add to my troubles the landing lights, which serve the same purpose on a plane as headlights on an automobile, went out. I switched off the dashboard lights and kept on in absolute darkness. With the dashboard lights out I could see just a little ahead.

In 10 minutes I got through the storm, but it was the longest 10 minutes I ever spent.

Flying on that route I have seen ice form on my wings three times. As soon as ice begins to crust them, the wings start to lose their lifting power.

If enough ice forms you come down whether you want to or not. I learned to deal with ice from some of the old-timers. As soon as it started to form I flew down as low as possible, where the temperature was warmer, and melted it off.

On our line we are flying at right angles to the general movements of the weather. On the east to west routes the weather men along the line can generally predict with considerable accuracy what the pilot may expect.

Sometimes the pilots can fly ahead of a storm all the way across, and never have it catch up with them.

But on the line down the coast the weather moves in on you without much warning. You are likely to be caught in fog or snow without notice.

I am trying to learn all I can from the old-timers among the mail fliers. Dick Merrill and Johnny Kyle have helped me more than anybody. I carry 400 pounds of mail, 24 an average. So far I have not had an accident with the mail.

Boy Fatally Hurt In Elevator Shaft Funeral Wednesday

Funeral services for William Arthur Bell, 17, who was fatally injured by a freight elevator in the King Hardware building Monday morning, will be conducted at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Sardis Baptist church, near Buckhead. The Rev. E. G. Thomason will be in charge, assisted by the Rev. Zach Hayes, and burial will be in the churchyard.

Although so far as known there were no eyewitnesses to the accident it was believed that the youth attempted to jump on the moving elevator and in so doing was caught between the moving carrier and the wall of the shaft. His cries were heard by the weather men along the line and the elevator was brought to a stop with the boy pinned against the wall between the second and third floor levels.

Firemen were summoned from No. 4 engine house, about a block away, and they dug away a section of the shaft wall to free the injured boy. He was taken to Grady hospital but was so badly crushed that he died about an hour later.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Bell, of a Howell Mill road address, and in addition to his parents is survived by a brother, Turman R. Bell.

86-YEAR-OLD NEGRO, ALIMONY $950 BEHIND, FACES TASK

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Edward Cruse, 86-year-old negro, who said he belonged to the Cruses of Halifax, Va., before the Civil War, today faced the problem of paying $950 back alimony.

Superior Judge E. V. Rosenkrantz filed the order against Cruse upon petition of his wife, Cora Cruse, who claimed the ex-slave owed her $1,250, having ceased years ago to pay $5 a week alimony.

"I gave the money to the children," Cruse said.

The children testified their father gave them money each week with instructions to "spend it before you get home so the old woman won't get it."

Judge Rosenkrantz suspended the weekly payments and directed Cruse to pay the $950 in monthly installments of $10.

Break that Breakfast monotony!

Tomorrow, with this delicious fruit juice

"Thank you so much for suggesting Welch's—I can't understand why I never thought of it before.... Certainly a wonderful time-saver!" "I intend to serve it for breakfast often, as the family is just delighted with it."

When we asked one hundred women to serve Welch's as a variation from the customary breakfast fruit, we knew they'd like it, because it's the pure juice of choicest Concord grapes, colorful and tempting.

But we didn't dream they'd welcome it with such spontaneous enthusiasm. The random comments quoted don't begin to tell the story! Why not try Welch's—even if only as a variation—beginning with tomorrow's breakfast? Rich in fruit nourishment, mineral salts and anti-acid properties, Welch's is not merely appetizing and delightful to the taste; it's healthful and invigorating, too.

A pint will serve five—more if diluted with cold water or crushed ice, and some prefer it so. Buy Welch's by the bottle or case from your dealer, or at the fountain ask for straight Welch's or a Welch-ade.

Tunney Ended Friendship With Mrs. Fogarty as Good Business Move, Reply Avers

Two Payments, Totalling $35,001 Made To Terminate Affair, Former Fighter's Answer Sets Forth.

By SAM LOVE, United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, June 24.—(United News)—As a matter of "good business judgment," Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, repudiated his "pure friendship" with Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, divorcing wife of Fort Worth, by two payments totalling $35,001, it was asserted in Tunney's answer filed today to Mrs. Fogarty's $500,000 breach of promise suit.

Tunney, who leaped from the prize fight into the social register, admitted having given the Texas young woman large sums of money. It was

Constipation and Biliousness Cause High Blood Pressure
If Alertox Fails—Call a Doctor

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, a new chemical discovery, through a process of elimination corrects all toxic conditions and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox removes, in one action, more poison from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. At all druggists or sent direct upon receipt of price, 99c and $1. Alertox, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

explained that he did it to protect the promoters of his fight with Jack Dempsey and "Honest Tom" Heeney, the New Zealand hard rock. Embarrassing publicity, just before the fight, Tunney felt, might react on the box office.

In answering Mrs. Fogarty's $500,000 suit, Tunney's attorneys filed denials and a cross complaint asking that the pretty widow be enjoined from prosecuting further the action already commenced against him.

Tunney's denial of the suit is based on three clauses:

1. The defendant denies the truth of the suit.
2. The defendant on May 25, 1927, for a "valuable consideration," purchased from the plaintiff a release discharging any and all claims.

3. Again on July 24, 1928, the defendant, again for a "valuable consideration," received a release under seal from the plaintiff discharging all claims.

Is Third Suit.
The present suit, according to records entering the case so far, is the third time Mrs. Fogarty has approached the retired heavyweight on the subject of money and love.

The answer does not mention a proposal of marriage that Mrs. Fogarty claimed Tunney made to her on June 3, 1925, but it makes a blanket denial of all her charges.

Mrs. Fogarty, of Fort Worth, a few days before she says Tunney popped the question.

Trial of the suit is expected to go over until the September term of court at Bridgeport, Conn.

Colonel Lewis L. Field, attorney for Mrs. Fogarty, said in New Haven today that he would shortly file an answer to Tunney's counter-complaint and explain in it the circumstances in which the so-called releases were signed.

Colonel Field seemed to resent the reply filed in Bridgeport, Conn., today by Homer Cummings, Stamford attorney, in which Mrs. Fogarty was depicted as ungrateful for Tunney's generosity and as seeking both more money and notoriety.

Cummings, a former national chairman of the democratic party, was retained by Tunney's New York battery of lawyers, Chalmers, Stanchfield & Levy, to defend the suit.

No Reason to Worry.
The reply indicated that should the suit come to trial and the scholarly leather-pusher's letters to Mrs. Fogarty be brought to light, he has no reason to worry except as to the correctness of possible Shakespearean allusions. Tunney's letters to the dimpled divorcee have "at all times been decent, proper and becoming," his lawyer's reply stated, and he has not "harmed or injured her physically or mentally."

The Tunney-Dempsey fight in Chicago, marked by the largest gate receipts on record, was on September 22, 1927. On May 25, 1927, harassed by the demands of Mrs. Fogarty, "it was deemed good business judgment" to pay her "a sum of money to avoid loss to the Rickard Sporting Club, Inc.," the reply says.

And so, Tunney's reply continues, he turned over to the ex-wife of the Fort Worth plumber, whom he had met at Hot Springs, Ark., in 1925, "the sum of 12."

There She Was, Again.
But two days before Gene's fight with Tom Heeney on July 26, 1928, there she was again, threatening to start a lawsuit.

Tunney's position at this juncture is stressed in the reply. It points out that he "was in strict training," but nevertheless "the money demands of the plaintiff and her threats of publicity became more insistent and menacing."

Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, took over the job of talking turkey and, according to the reply, handed over $35,000 to Mrs. Fogarty and she signed another agreement.

Tunney is in Briami, Italy, with his bride, the former Polly Lauder, Connecticut heiress, who is convalescing from an illness. They have remained abroad since they were married in Italy a short time after Tunney, for a swan-song, had pulverized the "hard rock from down under," Tammam Heeney.

SEVEN STORES IN NEW ORLEANS ROBBED, SAME TIME

New Orleans, June 24.—(AP)—Robbers early today staged a series of chain store robberies, escaping with approximately $1,500, police estimated. The hand, believed to be working as one gang, entered seven stores in rapid succession in different sections of the city, officers declared, breaking safes and escaping with all available cash.

Peavy had taken out insurance on his wife a few months ago, officers learned, payment of which was held up pending the investigation.

Physicians who worked in autopsies of both Mrs. Nix and Mrs. Peavy declared that conditions found in both bodies were similar.

POISONER OF GIRL WIFE INDICTED FOR MURDER

Nix Returned to County Jail Secretly To Prevent Violence.

Texarkana, Ark.-Texas, June 24.—(AP)—Ocie Nix, self-confessed poisoner of his girl wife, was indicted for murder by a special session of the Bowie county grand jury Monday afternoon.

Nix was returned to the county jail at New Boston tonight, from some point outside the county to which he had been taken secretly in fear of mob violence, officers said. They believed danger of mob violence had subsided with prospects of a speedy trial.

In the same jail was Chester Peavy, 25, another Bowie county farmer arrested Sunday night and being held pending report of a chemist on the viscera of his wife, whose body was exhumed Sunday, following her death under unusual circumstances.

The viscera of Mrs. Peavy, sent Sunday night, had not been received at the laboratory late Monday afternoon.

Sudden death of Mrs. Peavy Thursday morning following convulsions and her burial the same day aroused suspicions of her father, Ed Hutchinson, at Spring Hill, a little community 15 miles from Malta, near where Mrs. Nix was stricken and resulted in his request for an investigation. The youthful husband and his father admitted she died suddenly and under strange circumstances and could not account for the cause. She was unattended by a physician.

AIRPLANES FLEW 70,500,000 MILES IN U. S. LAST YEAR

Washington, June 24.—(AP)—Airplanes flew 70,500,000 miles in the United States last year.

This was announced today by Secretary Lamont in connection with the approaching third anniversary on July 1 of the establishment of the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce.

Secretary Lamont said that with the aeronautics branch completing its third year of service it was fitting to review aircraft development at this time.

"During this period," he said, "a number of historic flights have been made, both oceans have been spanned by aircraft and the foundations have been laid for a great transportation system over which swift aerial carriers will bear their cargoes of mail, express and passengers to every corner of the globe."

The secretary estimated that during the first six months of this year planes flew 8,000,000 miles over the air transport lines. This compares with a mileage of 10,500,000 for all of 1927 and 5,870,480 for 1926.

Planes engaged in miscellaneous, commercial and private flying traveled 60,000,000 miles in 1928 and 30,000,000 in 1927. No estimate was available for the mileage flown by these planes this year.

FASCISTS SCORE GERMAN VICTORY IN CITY ELECTION
Coburg, Germany, June 24.—(AP)—For the first time the fascist element of Germany scored a small but decisive political victory when they captured the board of aldermen here at municipal elections. They won 13 mandates to 7 obtained by the social democrats.

Coburg is a stronghold of royalists, being the headquarters of ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, the Grand Duke Cyril, pretender to the throne of Russia, and others.

Schwerin, Germany, June 24.—(AP)—Returns from yesterday's elections for the Mecklenburg diet showed a surprising gain for the fascists, who polled 12,554 votes as compared to 2,589 in the previous election. They thus won two seats in the diet.

Victims of Dense Fog, 2 Boats Hit Rocks Off New London, Conn.

New London, Conn., June 24.—(AP)—Victims of the dense fog which covered this coast last night, the 55-foot house boat Saptana, owned by Osborn Howes, of Boston, went on the rocks at Fisher's Island and was beached to save her from sinking, and the 40-foot yacht Spindrift, owned by Henry H. Morton, of New York, went aground on Hog's Back Rock in this harbor and suffered a gaping hole torn in her bottom.

Both craft came here for the Yale-Harvard regatta.

The coast guard life saving crew at Fisher's Island assisted Mr. Howes, his guests and crew ashore.

The Spindrift was able to proceed to Merritt-Chapman and Scott Corporation wharf, and was temporarily repaired there.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892 as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles. Do give it a trial, to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.—(adv.)

A Long-Life Record Probably Unequaled in the History of Commercial Transportation

A Record Established By Reo Speed Wagons—Of Interest To Every Truck User. Read These Proved Facts!

1½ ton Reo Speed Wagon in service of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Co., Hartford, Conn.

Read These Proved Facts

- On July 1st, 1928, there were 96,481 Reo Speed Wagons registered in the United States.
- This was 4,756 more than had been sold in the U. S. during the entire 6½ years from Jan. 1, 1922 to July 1, 1928.
- 93.2% of all the Reo Speed Wagons sold in the U. S. the previous 7½ years were still registered July 1st, 1928.
- 80.3% of all the Reo Speed Wagons sold in the U. S. the previous 8½ years were still registered on July 1st, 1928.
- And 50.8% of all Reo trucks sold since 1913 were still registered on July 1st, 1928.

NOT long ago Reo proved by facts that no other American pleasure car was as long-lived as Reo.

Now—based on registration figures compiled by a totally disinterested statistical firm—(Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation)—Reo announces a record in long-lived commercial vehicles that we believe to be without parallel in the industry!

That's the record—in terms of years.

We don't know whether any other manufacturer, likewise figuring in terms of years, can equal that astounding record of longevity or not.

But whether he can or not, when we reduce longevity to miles instead of years—an even more accurate gauge of truck life than mere years—we are absolutely confident that no other truck built can match the record of the Reo Speed Wagon.

For Reo Speed Wagons, built to deliver passenger-car speed, cover more miles per hour, per day or per year than do the conventional, plodding type of motor truck; so that the probability is that a Reo Speed Wagon, five years old, has traveled twice as far as the average motor-truck of the same age.

Shrewd buyers of commercial transportation are not interested in the mileage record of 1 truck, 10 trucks, or even 100 trucks. But they are keenly interested in the average life, under all conditions, of all the trucks made by an individual manufacturer.

Check again the facts quoted above. Here is definite, concrete proof of the long life which has always been an outstanding feature of Reo Speed Wagons. Proof—based on the registration records of all Reo Speed Wagons in all lines of industry. There is just one reason for this almost unbelievable record of continuous service: Reo early recognized the need for tremendous stamina combined with balanced light weight in commercial vehicles—the need for sizing and powering trucks to do their job economically, efficiently and over a long mileage life. This stamina has been a recognized feature of Reo trucks since their inception.

Today Reo engineers, in their defeat of Friction and Vibration, have designed and built an even greater measure of efficiency, economy and long trouble-free life into Speed Wagons of ½ to 3-ton capacity.

They have added features in design and manufacture that establish an entirely new conception of commercial transportation. Passenger car speed, flexibility and economy of operation have been blended with brute strength to offer industry ½ to 3-ton hauling like men have never known before. And above all, Reo engineers have made these qualities lasting.

Buying any truck without first investigating these Speed Wagons, is a mistake no thinking buyer will make.

Reo Speed Wagons are offered in 14 wheelbase sizes—from 115" to 179". Chassis priced from $895 to $2,200. F. O. B. Lansing. They incorporate such modern-day advantages as 4-forward speed transmission, 4-wheel, 2-shoe internal hydraulic brakes, 6 cylinder engine, 7-bearing crankshaft, Myers Built-in chassis lubrication and other refinements.

Call your Reo dealer. One of the Reo Transportation Specialists who have studied and solved transportation problems for hundreds of truck owners will call and discuss your transportation needs, without obligation. Reo Motor Car Company, Lansing, Michigan.

Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God.—Matthew 5:8.

BORDERING SCANDAL!

In the matter of suburban annexations the mayor and council have been maneuvered into a position which they cannot afford to maintain.

To do so will involve them in a general conflict with the larger part of the people of the city, who are already scenting actual scandal in the proceedings up to date.

That the people of Atlanta want the annexations made, and so made as to include all the people and properties that by every logical argument should belong in the city, is too well known to be debated.

But the council has piquetted and poliofoxed around the issue until public sentiment is disgusted and disposed to savagely arraign those of their representatives who in voting against them are sacrificing vital interests of the city for motives which to say the least of it are mystifying, and lend color to scandal gossip.

Acting Mayor Pennington suddenly and surprisingly jumped the mayor's prerogative, during that chief official's temporary absence, and vetoed an annexation ordinance within 30 minutes before the mayor's return when he knew that a margin of two days remained for the mayor's signature.

Mayor Ragsdale, arriving just after the netted fish had been thrown back into the pond, voiced his chagrin and states vigorously that if—but he wasn't there!

Now the time is still present to prevent the reading of the riot act. The mayor and council can easily "let the old cat die" and generate another and bigger one, taking in what the people of the city demand, pass it promptly, let the mayor sign it, and send it to the general assembly, and it will be done!

The councilmen who are fighting against their own people and jeopardizing the census status of the city for 10 years to come in order to keep in good favor with outside influences, if they are acquainted with history should remember that LESS SPARKS THAN THIS ANNEXATION MATTER HAVE BURST INTO FLAMES THAT HAVE SWEEPED COUNCILS, LEGISLATURES AND PARLIAMENTS OUT OF OFFICIAL EXISTENCE.

Let them be wise in season. Council still has opportunity to redeem to itself the confidence of the people by passing a genuinely just annexation ordinance.

That confidence has recently been badly shaken!

THE TABU FOR TROTSKY.

The chairman of the committee on immigration of the house of congress, Albert Johnson, has protested vigorously to the secretary of labor against granting permission to Leon Trotsky to re-enter and abide again in this country. Probably nine-tenths of the people of the nation have the same mind against the reappearance of the Russian exiled former communist dictator that Mr. Johnson has expressed.

Trotsky went away from the United States to aid in the revolutionizing of Russia, converting it into a communistic republic of working men's soviets, inaugurating in the interest of that semi-anarchistic despotism a propaganda against all other organized governments, monarchial or democratic, and fomenting a revolutionary rule of the proletariat over the face of the earth. Obtaining extraordinary power through Lenin he became a more ruthless and oppressive dictator over the Russian peasants, nobles and commercial and religious classes, than any Czar of Russia had ever dared to be in a thousand years of that country's history. His record is one of blood, and iron, and tyrannous hellionism.

He revolted his associates until they drove him into exile to become another "man without a country" to whom civilized nations have practically barred their doors, until like his female prototype, he longs for the peace, plenty and freedoms of his former American asylum.

But this country should not be the asylum of human monsters like Trotsky. The secretary of labor will outrage American sentiment and patriotism if he does not emphatically say "No" to Trotsky!

THE WAY MUST BE FOUND!

The report of the state budget commission recommending the reduction of the appropriation for the state's support for the next two years from $13,323,729 to $10,122,167 would be appalling if it did not serve to emphasize the imperative duty of the general assembly to increase the state's income.

The budget commission in apportioning the state's expenditures is confined to the distribution of no greater amount than is provided by the state's income.

At the present time the state is expending more than it is receiving, and the budget commission had no other alternative than to cut its cloth by the pattern set for it by the income of the state.

At present there is a deficit of over $3,000,000. It is the first duty of the legislature to make provision for this, and then to see to it that by providing sufficient revenue to meet the actual needs of the state there shall be no more deficits.

No doubt some small wastes can be eliminated and some minor services can be more economically administered, but efficient administration of the affairs of the state cannot possibly be administered for a sum materially less than that now being expended.

The time has come to call a halt in the everlastingly presenting Georgia to the country as being on the verge of bankruptcy, when the truth is there are few states in the Union in a better condition financially, and with a lower tax rate, than Georgia.

All that is needed is to apply business methods to a readjustment of the state's finances just as any great business organization would promptly do if confronted with the same condition as that in which Georgia now finds itself.

This state is abundantly able to support its government in modern character and efficiency. Its census figured wealth is over $4,000,000,000 and the net incomes of its people last year were enough in volume to enable the federal government to collect $14,213,650.26 in income taxes from them. That is, the comparatively few income taxpayers in the state paid to the federal treasury more cash money last year than was appropriated for the full support of the state government for two years.

It is ineffably ridiculous to represent the imperial state of Georgia to the world as a pauper state unable to finance for itself a government commensurate with the needs of its people and comparable with those of less wealth and resources.

A state with a bonded indebtedness of less than $5,000,000 and a single piece of railroad property worth $25,000,000 is certainly able to so adjust its finances as to meet its obligations to its citizens without putting its educational and humane institutions on a starvation basis.

It is the duty of the general assembly to find the way!

The Typical Bourgeois.

Seeing the ocean for the first time, Prudhomme said: "Such a quantity of water borders on the ridiculous." Prudhomme was the creation of Monnier, a hundred years ago. He typified the French bourgeois, bald, fat, short and portly. Some of the best sketches were sold at auction the other day and fetched high prices. The highest price of the sale, 20,000 francs, was paid for a drawing bearing the legend: "The portrait of Prudhomme." The water-color was painted by a Frenchman, and it was the greatest day of my life. Prudhomme declared when he was made a captain in the army. He continued: "At the end of your platoon, gentlemen, I swear to defend our institutions—and if necessary to fight against them." The water-color was sold for 22,000 francs. Monnier devised the following card of identity for his creation: Prudhomme, professor of writing, pupil of Brard and of Saint-Omer, sworn expert before the courts and tribunals, aged 37 years, of nice manners, thin, half-never spectacles, of a careful politeness, speaking his language with purity and elegance, bachelor, white hair, laced slippers, black coat and brown trousers. "You come from Alsace," he asked an Englishman. Satisfied with political events, he once remarked: "I wish to express my attachment to the king and to the dynasty." He could be gay. Asked to contribute to an album, he wrote: "I have been able to teach dogs and monkeys to write, but never birds. Yet they do not lack quills." In a philosophical mood, he delivered himself of this bit of wisdom: "If you exclude man from society, you isolate him."

First Grenadier.

The silver casket containing the heart of La Tour d'Auvergne was transferred recently from the Caveau des Comteurs in the church of Saint Louis to the chapel of Saint Gregory under the dome of the Invalides. The casket was carried to its resting place by the 46th regiment of the line, in which La Tour d'Auvergne served as "Le Premier Grenadier de la République" after his refusal to accept promotion from the rank of captain. La Tour d'Auvergne, upon whom Napoleon, as first consul, had conferred the title of Prince of the Empire, was born in the Republic on June 5, 1789, in the town of La Roche-sur-Yon, France. He was a member of the army of the Republic, and was killed at the battle of Oberhausen in Bavaria, June 27, 1800. A special order was issued to the French army announcing, and deploring, his death. To this day his name is always called in the roll call of the 46th regiment and is answered by a shout of "Mort sur le champ d'honneur."

Rounding Out a Healthy Life.

A reader occupies the pulpit today. "Formerly I had always ridiculed my wife when she quoted from her favorite column. I assured her no self-respecting body would ever take to advise people through newspaper articles—but the wife gleefully pointed out where a friend of ours, eminent for having been a doctor, had been pressed to give the public some advice. Still I took no stock in your teachings and went my own way."

"I am sure you are without letting me know, had been practicing some sort of medicine for several weeks. You would appreciate this compliment better if you knew the source. I noticed a vast improvement in her appearance. . . . I considered it a foolish performance. . . . business one day commiserated with me about my indigestion. He advised some sort of medicine. He declared that he had relieved him completely and he would see soon omit his bath or his breakfast."

"Then, too, every little while the wife introduced some friend who was a physician and had found some results a sovereign remedy for something or other supposed to be chronic. "Finally, strictly in privacy, for I felt I had to let my body know . . . nearly broke my neck."

"Whether there is some psychological influence, or whether the benefits are attributable, as you have explained, to stirring up the splenic pool, I am ready to testify that they have worked a miracle for me. I no longer feel I have a stomach. I feel energetic and ambitious, whereas I was getting to be quite a crab. . . . You little realize how many people are following your suggestions. I am stung. I meet people almost daily who confess they have the habit."

"At our house, Dr. Brady has two followers where he had but one before. "What you have to say on the health subject is final to my mind now. . . . Don't take this man's word for it, folks. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope for directions and roll your own."

Dignified Campaign.
"Our campaign is to be a dignified one," said Miss Sutter, "and we are not going to use sensational statements or spectacular methods, because, in the long run, we don't think they are necessary."

"Our principle aim is to make people think for themselves. If we can show them what prohibition has done to increase their prosperity, their happiness and their general welfare—if we can do that, I think they will get tired of the twaddle of the 'wet' party. There will be no barroom posters to contrast to the pictured blessings of those who have shunned the evils of drink, according to Miss Sutter. Only the rosy side, as it is seen by the government molders of morals, will be presented. The electric sign at Atlanta, for example, will portray the beneficial results of law obedience. One of the pamphlets to be broadcast among the teachers at Atlanta is captioned: "How shall we teach the eighth amendment?" and then gives "the government's message to you."

The reader is then told: "The eighth amendment has made a great difference in what, for lack of a better word, we will call 'temperance' teaching. How shall we teach the eighth amendment? This literature was widely used in the study course of

The New General Assembly and Who Are the Hopefuls in the Houses.

The biennial state muster starts tomorrow with the big dome of the commonwealth's capitol. The "issue" of solons is gathering from Tiger Rebut to the Bee in Chatham-by-the-sea. And the first person most of them will see will be second to none in his sound appreciation of the state's necessities and will surely be on the firing line for whatever is promised by a president.

Seab Wright, veteran and valiant independent and often intractable, would be the acknowledged leader of the senate, but for the jealousy of too many of his colleagues. But that will not fade Seab; he will be heard from, and it from me.

Things Will Happen in the House.
Over in the house that swift young publicist, generally known as "Young Dick Russell," will succeed himself as speaker by unanimous choice. He deserves the duplicated honor. "Young Dick" is a chip of the old block, but he bids mighty far to swell into a bigger block than the original.

Howell Cone, of Bulloch county, in the senate last session was a representative from his county succeeding Fred A. McWhorter, who drowned during the past spring; and C. V. Stanton, of Wilkes, who died recently.

Meantime last minute preparations were being made at the capitol for the session, when the chambers were put in spick and span condition, extra desks installed in rooms where stenographers and clerks will work and additional telephones installed.

ploring a wide area off the Azores where the unidentified reports said an abandoned seaplane had been sighted.

The four destroyers which left Ferrol this afternoon for the Azores were the Alcedo, Velasco, Lagana and the San Juan.

A submarine squadron at Cartagena was leaving tonight to join the search, and the liner Marquessa Comillas, which is en route from New York, was urged by radio to halt and aid the search in the Azores region.

Great Disappointment.
The great disappointment of the public when the rumors of a safe landing by the plane at the Azores, as published here were proved false, prompted the government to start an investigation of the origin of the reports.

PERFECT WEATHER AROUND AZORES.
Horta, Azores Islands, June 24.—(United News).—Perfect weather prevailed here tonight as search and rescue continued for Commander Ramon Franco's missing plane, but officials were convinced that only the most remote possibility of finding the big plane in the area remained.

The Portuguese warship "Zaire," which left the island of San Miguel yesterday to search for the plane, arrived here without having found the slightest trace of the plane.

The official news of the Zaire said the United States correspondent that he had kept their searchlights going all night as they steamed north and west of the Azores. They also kept a close radio communication with other vessels over a large area, but failed to get any news of the fate of the plane.

Although there was heavy mists and some rain for a few hours tonight, the weather cleared up again tonight and conditions were favorable for the search. The plane was forced to land at sea. The Zaire was planning to cover a large area both in the Azores and to the south of the Azores, where one vessel reported hearing the motors of an airplane early Saturday.

Officials pointed out that the fact that the plane were scheduled to follow a route which is off the beaten path of ocean vessels made their plight more serious, as only the rescue vessels in the fishing fleet, which would not have radio communication, would be likely to find them.

Georgia air tour committee to meet the pathfinder party. Among those who went on the tour were: H. T. Quillian, chairman; P. E. Redding, president of the Chamber of Commerce; A. H. Daniel, county commissioner; W. L. Turner, postmaster; G. L. Cahall, president of the Lions Club; City Councilman F. J. Pike, H. D. Burke, president of the Rotary Club; J. H. Pikes, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Herndon Thomas, Junior Chamber; Julian Langley, Junior Chamber; Harold Hady, Clarence White and several others interested in having the tour stop at LaGrange.

Coming into LaGrange, two orange and yellow travel airplanes piloted by Fred Dorset and "Slim" Culpepper, both of whom received the honor of being the first to land in the city, were followed by the T. A. Atlanta manager, circled our Curtiss Robin and landed just ahead of the plane, which flew over from West Point.

Crowd Flocks to Field.
The three ships, all highly colored, attracted much attention and upon the airport was crowded with cars and people. The city is making efforts to keep the air tour. Every effort of assistance was made to the pathfinder party. The field will be placed in excellent condition and will be large enough to receive any ship which might be taken on the tour. Especially at LaGrange, the local committee said.

LaGrange proved to be one of the most "air-minded" cities visited during the tour. The city is making efforts to get air mail service and is building a revolving beacon with a stationary light directed toward Calhoun field. The pathfinder party was assured that a large crowd would be waiting directing air traffic to and the examining commission are only advisory bodies having no actual authority in connection with appropriations.

New Revenue Sources.
One of the major problems the legislators will be called upon to solve will be finding new sources of revenue for the state to finance the commonwealth. A commission appointed by Governor Hardman to study the situation has recommended a gross sales tax, an income tax and several other sources.

With organization of the two houses apparently to be accomplished rapidly, it was believed that the assembly would be settled down to work before the middle of next week, but the state's necessities and will surely be on the firing line for whatever is promised by a president.

The governor is writing his message, but what it will contain is more or less a matter of speculation as no word has come from him as to its contents. The governor will recommend rigid economy in appropriations as a foregone conclusion, competent observers said.

Applicants On Hand.
Scores of applicants for minor offices in both the senate and house already are on hand and conducting campaigns as vigorous as any applicant for speaker of the house. The president of the senate and scarcely a member of either body arrived during the day that he was not cornered within a matter of hours or more of those seeking a position.

Corrections in the official roll were made Monday to enter names of members replacing two who have died since the general election last fall. James H. Boykin, of Lincoln county, was a representative from his county succeeding Fred A. McWhorter, who drowned during the past spring; and C. V. Stanton, of Wilkes, who died recently.

Meantime last minute preparations were being made at the capitol for the session, when the chambers were put in spick and span condition, extra desks installed in rooms where stenographers and clerks will work and additional telephones installed.

Griffin Reached First.
Griffin, first stop, was reached in 17 minutes. The Robin cruising alone close to 100 miles an hour. "At the field were members of Griffin committee, which is composed of J. C. Morrow, chairman; J. C. Skelton, Arthur Blake and Bob Duke, who is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Skelton walked over the runway with Pilot Shealy and the writer, offering to mark the runways and otherwise get the field in shape for the tour. If Griffin is placed on the route, the Griffin field has a northwest, southeast runway 2,000 feet long and an east-west runway 1,500 feet long. The landing area will be cleared, some depressions filled and the runways marked with flags, the committee promised.

COLUMBUS ENTERTAINS PATHFINDER PARTY.
Columbus, Ga., June 24.—(AP)—A pathfinder party, bearing N. S. Noble, city editor of the Atlanta Constitution, who is mapping out a route for the "all-Georgia air tour," which that party is sponsoring in the near future, arrived at the Columbus air port at noon today. A delegation from the city, the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce welcomed the party.

Accompanying Mr. Noble's plane were two Travelair planes, piloted by Fred Dorset and Jimmy Culpepper, respectively, who had joined the party at LaGrange. Fred Dorset was a passenger in the ship piloted by Culpepper.

Mr. Noble, his pilot, George Shealy, Mr. Dorset, Mr. Culpepper and Mr. Skelton were escorted to the Ralston hotel, where they were entertained at a luncheon.

Mr. Noble, chairman of the route committee of the all-Georgia air tour, outlined to the group the plans of his paper on his trip, during which he will decide on the final route of the tour. Mr. Noble and his pilot will visit between 20 and 30 Georgia cities to make plans for tour.

ATLANTIC LINERS DELAYED BY FOG OFF U. S. COAST
New York, June 24.—(AP)—Four trans-Atlantic liners were anchored as far out as Sandy Hook and Gravesend bay tonight unable to penetrate a heavy fog which extended from Manhattan to Quarantine. They were the Franconia, New York, Dresden and Corinthian.

The Minnekahda made her pier tonight when the fog lifted for a time in the lower bay. She was followed closely by the Baltic.

The four still outside sent word that they would not attempt the passage to their piers until tomorrow.

Haynes' Sings Position.
Eugene W. Haynes, developer of Haynes Manor, declared Monday that he would not oppose annexation if the limits were extended to include the territory which was to have been developed sections in the northern section of Fulton county south of Buckhead, Pace's Ferry road, Andrews drive and Piedmont road.

"I object to Haynes Manor and the Wesley avenue sections being made a buffer to protect other valuable sections of Fulton county adjacent to the territory which was to have been included into the city by the paper which council passed Thursday afternoon," Mr. Haynes said.

All of Deed Hills and highly developed territory in the northern section of Fulton county extending to 200 feet north of Wesley avenue would have been included in the city if Mr. Pennington had signed the annexation paper passed last Thursday by council.

S. Cummings, president of Kiwanis International, read by Gerald Goodman, featured the dinner program.

Members of the Kiwanis Club gathered at the Black Rock early in the afternoon and remained until late at night to enjoy everything from riding and horseback pitching to dancing. Their wives and families were guests.

The sport program included a golf contest. The following golf winners were announced at the dinner and awarded prizes: Mrs. J. J. Marchman, low net, 66; gross, 84; R. J. Marchman, low net, 66; gross, 84; R. J. Marchman, low net, 66; gross, 84; R. J. Marchman, low net, 66; gross, 84.

DEPRIEST DENIES HE IS SEEKING SOCIAL EQUALITY

Knoxville, Tenn., June 24.—(AP)—Oscar Depriest, negro congressman from Chicago, tonight told an audience of 1,500 negroes that the negro would never gain his political and civil rights until the segregationist would be organized politically.

Depriest was tendered an ovation by a throng of negroes who met him at the train. Following his dinner he was honor guest at a dinner for 50 at a negro tea room.

Discussing the question of social equality, the congressman said, "All that I want for the negro is white equality before the law."

"The American white people are not to blame for economic, social, political or civil status of the negro," the speaker said. "His salvation is laid at his own doorstep."

Depriest told an audience that he was "not in congress to put over any special legislation in behalf of the negro."

Mayor James A. Fowler, former solicitor-general of the United States, introduced Depriest.

Georgia legislature for its sanction at once.

"There is every indication that we will be able to pass an annexation paper at council session," Mr. Morrow said. "If we should fail to muster the two-thirds majority necessary to pass the vetoed paper, if we fail in that, we shall introduce a new paper and insist that it be approved by city council."

Annexation proponents are pleased with the announcement of Mayor Ragsdale that he will approve such a measure. We feel that the mayor senses the overwhelming sentiment in favor of a sane annexation program."

Another indication of the public sentiment in favor of annexation was in the announcement of Councilman J. W. Rountree, of the third ward.

"I ran on an annexation platform in the primary held in June," Mr. Rountree said. "The voters gave me a majority of four to one over my opponents. I shall insist that the measure carry."

MISTRIAL IS PREDICTED IN CASE OF J. S. SLICER

Second Recess Ordered Because of Illness of Ben Conyers, Chief Defense Counsel.

The illness of Ben Conyers, chief of defense counsel, may bring about a mistrial in the case of J. S. Slicer, former president of the Defunct Colonial Trust Company, it was learned Monday when a second recess was ordered by Judge Virlyn B. Moore in superior court because of the attorney's condition.

Judge Moore ordered the jury, which for two weeks has been hearing evidence against the former banker, who is charged with embezzlement, to report again this morning and indicated that he would dismiss it unless Mr. Conyers appears to carry on the defense.

The first recess was taken last Friday morning when Mr. Conyers, who is associated with Judge Walter T. Conquist and Don Johnson in the Slicer defense, failed to appear and his physician reported him ill in bed. Judge Moore said that he had talked with Mr. Conyers on the telephone Sunday night and the lawyer said he hoped to be in court Monday morning but found himself unable to leave his home at that time.

Mr. Conyers' illness is attributed to the ordeal of the long trial and his effort to keep up his regular office routine as well.

Postoffice Janitor's "Accidental" Theft Brings 7-Month Sentence

What he claimed to be his first "accident" in nine years of faithful service resulted rather disastrously for Willie Williams, former postoffice janitor, when he pleaded guilty in United States court here Monday to two indictments, one charging the theft of a pistol from the top floor of the postoffice building and the other charging the theft of an umbrella from approximately the same location.

He told Judge Sibley that he had worked long and faithfully in his capacity as janitor and that, never before had he had such an "accident." The judge refused to regard the incidents in this light, however, and "accidentally" sentenced him to four months in jail on the first charge and three months on the second.

Joseph H. McKelley, Jr., drew a three-year probation on charges of representing himself to be an agent of the department of justice in violation of Section 32 of the Penal code.

Other cases which had been scheduled for action Monday had been previously settled through guilty pleas and the imposition of sentences. Additional criminal cases will be taken up during the remainder of the week.

Power Company 3,830 ACRES INVOLVED IN CONDEMNATION SUIT

U. S. Would Use Land in Four Counties for National Preserve.

Condemnation proceedings involving 3,830 acres of land in Fauquier, Lumpkin, Union and Dawson counties were instituted Monday with the filing of a suit in federal court on behalf of the United States government. The petition sets forth that the land is to be used in connection with the preservation of forests, the regulation of the flow of navigable streams, and as a national preserve. This suit brings the acreage in the state involved in similar proceedings up to more than 50,000.

This particular tract has been examined and approved by the secretary of agriculture and the national forest reservation commission in accordance with the conditions set forth in the Weeks act of 1911. The petition states, and such action was legalized by the state of Georgia in 1901.

The conditions of the Weeks act provide that the national forest reservation commission is authorized to pass upon such lands as may be recommended for purchase and to fix the price; that the secretary of agriculture is authorized to examine and recommend the purchase of such lands as in his judgment may be necessary to the regulation of the flow of navigable streams.

In commenting on the unusual combination of resources and industrial advantages found in Georgia, the book states that during the past two years the industrial development of Georgia has been accelerated because "industrial leaders are beginning to realize that Georgia is an unworked field and that in this state 'none of the fruits are denied to men of intelligence and industry.'"

The value of the manufactured products of the state has more than doubled in five years, and of even greater significance is the fact that the variety and extent of these products have been greatly increased, the year-book states.

The book features the power company's slogan: "It's great to be a Georgian."

BRITISH CONSULATE IN LOCAL DISTRICT TO CLOSE JUNE 30

Formal announcement of the decision to discontinue the British consulate in Atlanta was made public Monday by Consul S. E. Kay, in charge of offices here for several years. The date of closing has been set for June 30.

From that date the Atlanta consular district, which comprises the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and the Atlantic coast of Florida, will be included in the district of the British consul general at New Orleans.

Only a glance into the faces of the upright men and women whose honest, straightforward statements appear day after day in the public press, will convince even the most skeptical of the wonderful and amazing health-building powers of Sargon. These people have given these voluntary endorsements out of pure gratitude for what the famous medicine has done for them, because they want their fellow-sufferers to know that they, too, can be lifted out of the throes of suffering and ill health.

Among the hundreds who have given Sargon their unqualified public endorsement is W. H. Cook, 1065 Reeder Circle, N. E., for many years a city employee but who retired several years ago because of poor health. Mr. Cook says:

"I'm feeling better than I have in nine years! That's a broad statement, but it's true—and I'll tell anybody that Sargon is the finest strength-building medicine in the world!"

"I was in such a weak, run-down condition I hardly had the strength to get around. The least exertion would bring the blood rushing to my face, my blood pressure was so high. I had no appetite and what little I forced down nearly always soured and caused gastric indigestion. I would get terribly bloated and it even affected my heart, until I could scarcely breathe. I was nervous, and seldom got a good night's sleep. My kidneys were always bothering me and I suffered something awful from pains in my back. I had bilious headaches from chronic constipation and my tongue stayed heavily coated. I always had a bad taste in my mouth. I was almost a physical wreck."

"Five bottles of Sargon and three of the pills made me like a new man! You would hardly believe I had ever been sick the way I hustle along down the street, just as lively as anybody. My blood pressure is normal and I never have that tired, weak feeling. My appetite couldn't be better and nothing I eat disagrees with me. I'm not nervous like I used to be, and I sleep like a child, without a trace of that old backache."

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills were just what I needed to get rid of constipation. My tongue stays clear, that bad taste is gone and I never have headaches now."

"My 'comeback' is a great surprise to my friends and it makes me feel mighty good to have them stop me on the street and tell me how much better I'm looking."

Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

BISHOP'S STOCK TRADES THOROUGHLY PROBED

Partner in Bankrupt Firm Is Quizzed About Cannon's Deals.

New York, June 24.—(AP)—The stock market trading of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, was thoroughly scrutinized today at the hearing into the bankruptcy of Kable & Co., an alleged bucket shop through which the anti-Smith democratic leader dealt.

Counsel for the trustee confined himself almost entirely to the bishop's account, bringing out that with a deposit of only $2,500 the bishop ran up a paper balance of some $11,000.

The only witness of the day was Harry L. Goldhurst, principal partner of the bankrupt firm of Kable & Co. Both Goldhurst and the other partner, Charles W. Kable, are under indictment for using the mails to defraud in connection with conduct of their business.

Goldhurst told C. Edward Benoit, counsel for the trustee in bankruptcy, that he had known the bishop for about seven years and had transacted business for him, buying securities for cash, before the formation of Kable & Co. He said no records had been kept of these transactions.

After the company was organized he said the bishop authorized him to buy and sell for him at his discretion and that numerous transactions were carried through, some at the bishop's direction and some just because Goldhurst thought they were advisable.

The witness said the bishop paid on the installment plan, a feature of the Kable & Co. business, and authorized him to buy as high as might call for an initial payment of $2,000 or $3,000, which would obligate the cleric to total payments of about $40,000.

Goldhurst emphatically denied that the bishop had any interest in Kable & Co., or received any part of the profits or was given anything for sending other customers to trade with the firm. He said no one knew that the bishop had an account there, although he had not requested secrecy, and that his name was never used to help get new customers.

At first refusing to say whether he had in his possession at the time 200 shares of Hudson on which the bishop paid an installment and made paper profits of several thousand dollars, Goldhurst later said it would not be necessary for him to have had them as it was customary not to buy the stocks ordered until all the installments were paid.

Benoit asked him if it had not been customary in selling securities for the bishop to credit him with several points above the market. This Goldhurst denied and when shown comparisons between entries of sales and stock quotations insisted that there must have been an error of date to account for the discrepancy.

The hearing was finally adjourned until tomorrow, with Kable scheduled as the first witness, and with Goldhurst due to be recalled when he was through.

BRILLIANT SUPPER DANCE GIVEN AT BROOKHAVEN CLUB

Miss Orme and Mr. Healey Are Guests of Honor

Fashionable Atlanta society assembled last evening at one of the most brilliant affairs of the season, when Mrs. William T. Healey entertained at a supper-dance at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, in compliment to her son, William T. Healey, and his fiancée, Miss Callie Orme, their marriage to be the outstanding event of social importance taking place during the week.

The richness of palms and tropical Woodwardia ferns combined to charming effect with long-stemmed pink roses, graceful spikes of gladioli shading from flesh to deep rose pink and buddleia in the elaborate floral appointments throughout the club. Palms were banded in the entrance hall, the effect relieved by huge rose bowls filled with roses, gladioli and buddleia. In the large living room where the hostess received her guests, before a bank of palms and ferns, the tables and mantels were adorned with bowls and baskets of the same lovely blossoms, the ballroom being also banded with tall palms.

The delightful open air terrace adjoining the ballroom presented a scene of entrancing beauty, being completely encircled with garlands of lights, encased in soft pink tulip shades, with graceful festoons of smilax connecting the lights. At the far end of the terrace was an immense floral horseshoe, developed entirely in pink and white roses and gladioli and outlined with myriads of tiny electric lights, covered with delicate pink shades. At intervals during the evening, all other lights were turned off save those of the horseshoe, the guests dancing on the breeze-swept terrace in this dim, soft light augmented only by the summer moon.

Receiving with Mrs. Healey were Miss Orme, William Healey, and the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Orme.

Mrs. Healey received her guests wearing a handsome gown of flesh-colored chiffon, beaded in tiny seed pearls, and worn with a shoulder spray of delicate pink orchids. Miss Orme was a charming figure wearing a becoming gown of green chiffon, relieved by bands of rhinestones. Her flowers were a graceful spray of orchids. Mrs. Orme was gowned in blue chiffon fashioned over pale pink satin, heavily embroidered in self tones. Her flowers were a shoulder garland of pink rosebuds and valley lilies.

Supper was served at 11:30 o'clock. The guests numbered four hundred members of Atlanta society, including a number of prominent visitors who are in the city for the wedding.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

ROBBER SNEAKS AWAY.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who knows he faces sure defeat if he be wise will plan retreat.

That was a great fight over by the old stone wall just inside the Old Orchard. In no time at all there was an excited audience. All who had been folk of the Old Orchard were there. Tommy Jay was screaming at the top of his lungs. Bully the English Sparrow, Wilemoe Robin, Winsome Bluebird, Goldie the Oriole, Scrapper the Kingbird, Tommy Tit the Chickadee, Skimmer the Swallow and a lot more were on hand to watch the fight between Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel and Robber the Rat.

Robber hasn't a friend in the world. When some of those feathered folk had often quarreled with Happy Jack Squirrel, they were all for him now. From every side they shrieked encouragement.

Now, Robber the Rat is no coward. When he sees that he must fight, he will fight bravely, and this is what he was doing now. When he had started that fight he hadn't the least doubt but that he would soon send Happy Jack flying for his life. More than once he had made a cat turn tail. He hadn't the least fear of Happy Jack, so his surprise was the more complete when he discovered that Happy Jack was too much for him. It was hard to admit to himself, but facts are facts, and he soon realized that, if he wanted to save his life, he would have to get away.

At last Happy Jack lost his hold for a second. With a sudden wrench, Robber tore himself loose. He wasted no time then. He started for his hole as fast as his legs could take him. He was a sorry looking sight. His coat was torn and he was bleeding from many cuts. He was actually wobbling on his legs. But fear gave him strength and he disappeared in his hole with a quickness that surprised himself.

Happy Jack stopped at the entrance. He didn't like the idea of going down under ground. So he stopped at the entrance and contemplated himself with making-dreadful threats. He dared Robber to come out again.

But Robber the Rat was not coming out. The one thing he wanted was to get where Happy Jack couldn't reach him. He paid no attention to Happy Jack's threats. He was too utterly whipped and miserable to care. Finally Happy Jack marched proudly back to the flat stone where Farmer Brown's Boy had left breakfast for the Squirrel family. Mrs. Squirrel and the four children came down from the tree in which they had watched the great fight. How their tongues flew as they talked it all over! How they praised Happy Jack! How proud they were of him!

Every once in a while Happy Jack would jump down and run over to the hole of Robber the Rat. He would dare Robber to come out. He would call him names. But at no time did he get a reply. Then he would go back to the big flat stone to resume his breakfast.

Meanwhile all the other Orchard people had talked over the great fight, and had said a lot of nice things about Happy Jack, then had resumed their home duties. There was no question but that Happy Jack had won their respect. Yes, indeed, he had won their respect. They were proud of him. Even Scrapper the Kingbird, who is as you know utterly fearless, had some very pleasant things to say about the way in which Happy Jack had faced Robber the Rat.

That night, when the Black Shadows had crept out over the Old Orchard, Robber stole up to the entrance and peered out. Then, sure that the way was clear, he came out and crossed Farmer Brown's barnyard to the barn, where he had been born, and where he had made his home until he had ventured over to that hole under the old wall.

"A Squirrel's teeth are sharp," he kept saying over and over to himself. "A Squirrel's teeth are sharp. I've had all I want of them."

The next story: "Happy Jack is a Hero." (Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

Stimson Gets Report On Rum Smugglers Firing at U. S. Boat

Washington, June 24.—(AP)—A preliminary report of the firing on June 19 by a rum smuggler which retreated into Canadian waters off Detroit was received today by the treasury and forwarded to Secretary Stimson, of the state department.

The treasury declined to make public the report, but said that it agreed substantially with press reports of the affair. The investigation will continue with a view of identifying the rum boat and ascertaining whether the two men on it were Americans or Canadians.

The boat, customs officers reported, could be easily identified and on the morning of the incident had made several futile attempts to run a load of liquor from Canadian docks into the United States. The treasury expected no further action to be taken until its investigation was complete.

FIVE-YEAR CLOSED SEASON IS ASKED ON DEER, TURKEY

Waycross, Ga., June 24.—(Special.)—A closed season of five years on deer and wild turkey has been recommended by the Ware county grand jury, and the matter has been placed before Peter S. Twitty, state fish and game commissioner, in an effort to restock Ware county with wild life.

The finding of several deer in this county last year has created a great deal of interest in the rehabilitation of the deer herds in this section. Ware county, until a few years ago, had a plentiful supply of deer.

During the past 10 years the presence of wild turkey also has been cut to a minimum, and sportsmen are interested in restocking the Ware woods with this game bird.

Before and After Childbirth

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my first baby was born and I am taking it now for my weakened condition after the birth of my second boy. Although I never have put on any flesh I am feeling good now and the Vegetable Compound has helped me in every way. It is surely a wonderful medicine and I will be glad to answer letters for I recommend it highly."—Mrs. Fred W. Davey, Madison, Kansas.

Convict - Editor Returns Tuesday To Georgia Gang

Chicago, June 24.—(AP)—Robert Elliott Burns, magazine publisher and wounded veteran of the great war, will return to Georgia Tuesday to rejoin the chain gang from which he escaped seven years ago. His return is voluntary, he told Joseph B. Davis, of the superior court today.

Habeas corpus proceedings, started by attorneys to keep him from the chain gang, were halted until Georgia officials have him in custody. An application for executive clemency has been filed in Georgia and Burns hoped it would be granted soon.

Burns was sentenced to from 6 to 10 years at hard labor in 1922 after he and two companions robbed a grocery store of little more than $4. After serving three months of his sentence Burns escaped. Coming to Chicago, penniless and friendless, he soon became engaged in real estate publicity. He roomed with Mrs. Emily Pacheco, 13 years his senior. She learned of his prison record and he married her, coerced by fear of exposure, he said.

He lived with Lillian Salo for several months and the exposure to police of his prison record was the act of his jealous wife, he said. Governor Emmerson signed the extradition papers last week, despite pleas of American Legion officials to refuse them.

Week-End Events Honor Miss Orme And Mr. Healey

The calendar of events for the week-end was marked by interesting parties given in honor of Miss Callie Orme and her fiancé, William Healey. Among the most brilliant of these affairs was the buffet supper at which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox and their son, Baxter Maddox, entertained Sunday evening at Woodhaven, their handsome home on Pace's Ferry road.

The home was decorated with quantities of bright-hued garden flowers which were arranged in attractive abundance. The guests, numbered 30, including Miss Orme, Mr. Healey, the members of their bridal party and a few other very close friends.

Mrs. J. Carroll Payne entertained yesterday at a buffet luncheon at her home on Peachtree street, complimenting Miss Orme. Assisting Mrs. Payne in entertaining were Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Jr., Mrs. Alex. Smith, Jr., and Mrs. C. C. Shriver, of Baltimore, Md.

Among other lovely affairs honoring Miss Orme and Mr. Healey on Sunday was the tea which Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Bailey and Mrs. Sadler entertained at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie Sadler, on 13th street.

Throughout the reception rooms were quantities of budding, pink roses and gardenias. In the dining room the beautifully appointed tea table was overlaid with a patch work lace cover, a center of which was placed a silver basket holding pink roses, gardenias and budding.

The hosts were assisted by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sadler. The guest list included the wedding party and a few intimate friends.

At noon on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Orme, Jr., entertained a luncheon at the Druid Hills Golf Club, honoring their sister and her fiancé. The table, which was exquisite in all its appointments, held three graceful flower-filled with fragrant garden flowers, the color motif of pink and lavender predominating.

Covers were placed for Miss Callie Orme, Miss Cornelia Orme, Miss Mary Orme, of Danville, Va., Miss Elsie Warner, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Laura Greene, of Charleston, S. C.; Miss Ida Sadler, Miss Ellen Newell, Mrs. Robert Spillman, of Knoxville, Tenn.; Mrs. William Huger, William Healey, Baxter Maddox, Hugh Carter, Oscar Burnett, Jimmie Johnson, Price Gilbert, Sport Harris, John Barnett, Henry Jackson, John Stevens, of Chicago, and William Huger.

The lake at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, was formally opened last Saturday afternoon, and is proving a very popular rendezvous for those enjoying aquatic sports. A row of benches placed on the sandy beach skirting the lake provide comfortable seats for the spectators to watch the swimmers.

The grounds leading from the clubhouse have been greatly beautified and flagstone walks lead through piney woods to the lake. Many swimming parties are being given every day and the lake is proving an added attraction to the stay-at-homes.

Gracing the center was a large green crystal bowl filled with a variety of all-white garden flowers, including phlox, feverfew, shasta daisies and swansonia. # Bryan Grant Will Compete in National Tennis Tournaments

SPLIT SEASON PLAN APPEARS DOOMED

BRYAN GRANT IN CHICAGO NET TOURNAY

Malon Courts Quits Atlanta for East—Mooney to Charleston.

By D. A. Hallman.
Bryan Grant, southern tennis champion, will leave Saturday night for Indianapolis to play in the national clay court singles tournament next week.

The following week he will play No. 1 position on the southern team which will compete in the national sectional matches at Chicago.

In announcing his plans for the summer campaign Monday, Grant stated he would return to New Orleans the week of July 22 to defend his southern singles title, but would forfeit the Georgia singles title in the tournament to be held in Atlanta next August.

Following the southern tournament Grant will go to Philadelphia to take examinations for entrance into Pennsylvania university next fall. From there he will go to New York and other eastern points to enter some of the nationally famous tournaments.

Malon Courts, Georgia university star of last year and ranked third in Atlanta, states Monday he will leave Atlanta next week to go in business with a bond firm in New York. Courts stated he will play in several eastern tournaments this summer, but will not play in either the southern or the Georgia tournaments where he has always been a contender.

Jack Mooney, No. 2 clay court in the city, will leave Saturday night in company with Joe and Kels Boland for Charleston, S. C., to compete in the South Carolina state tournament. Mooney has two legs on the three-year cup at Charleston, having won the title there the last two years. A victory for him next week will bring the cup to Atlanta.

Grant, who made a successful invasion of the east last summer, stated he will play in three or four tournaments in the east prior to entering Penn this fall. Last year Grant caused a commotion in Orleans, circles when he upset Wilmer Allison, University of Texas star, who is now in Europe as a member of the Davis cup squad.

In the Chicago matches Bryan will play with Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, in the singles, Sutter and Dan Murray, also of New Orleans, will play the doubles. In these matches, Grant will have occasion to match his prowess against some of the most formidable players in the country.

Gault Defeated By Armstrong.
First upset in the city tennis tournament was registered Monday afternoon when Billy Gault, ranked No. 4 in Atlanta, was defeated by the second round opponent in a bitterly-contested third-round match.

Gault, an overwhelming favorite to play Jack Mooney in the fourth round today, could not match the carefully played back court play of his opponent and wilted under a steady fire of deep cross-court shots.

Other seeded players entered the quarter finals without a word of trouble, all of them being forced to play two matches due to delay in schedule caused by intermittent showers.

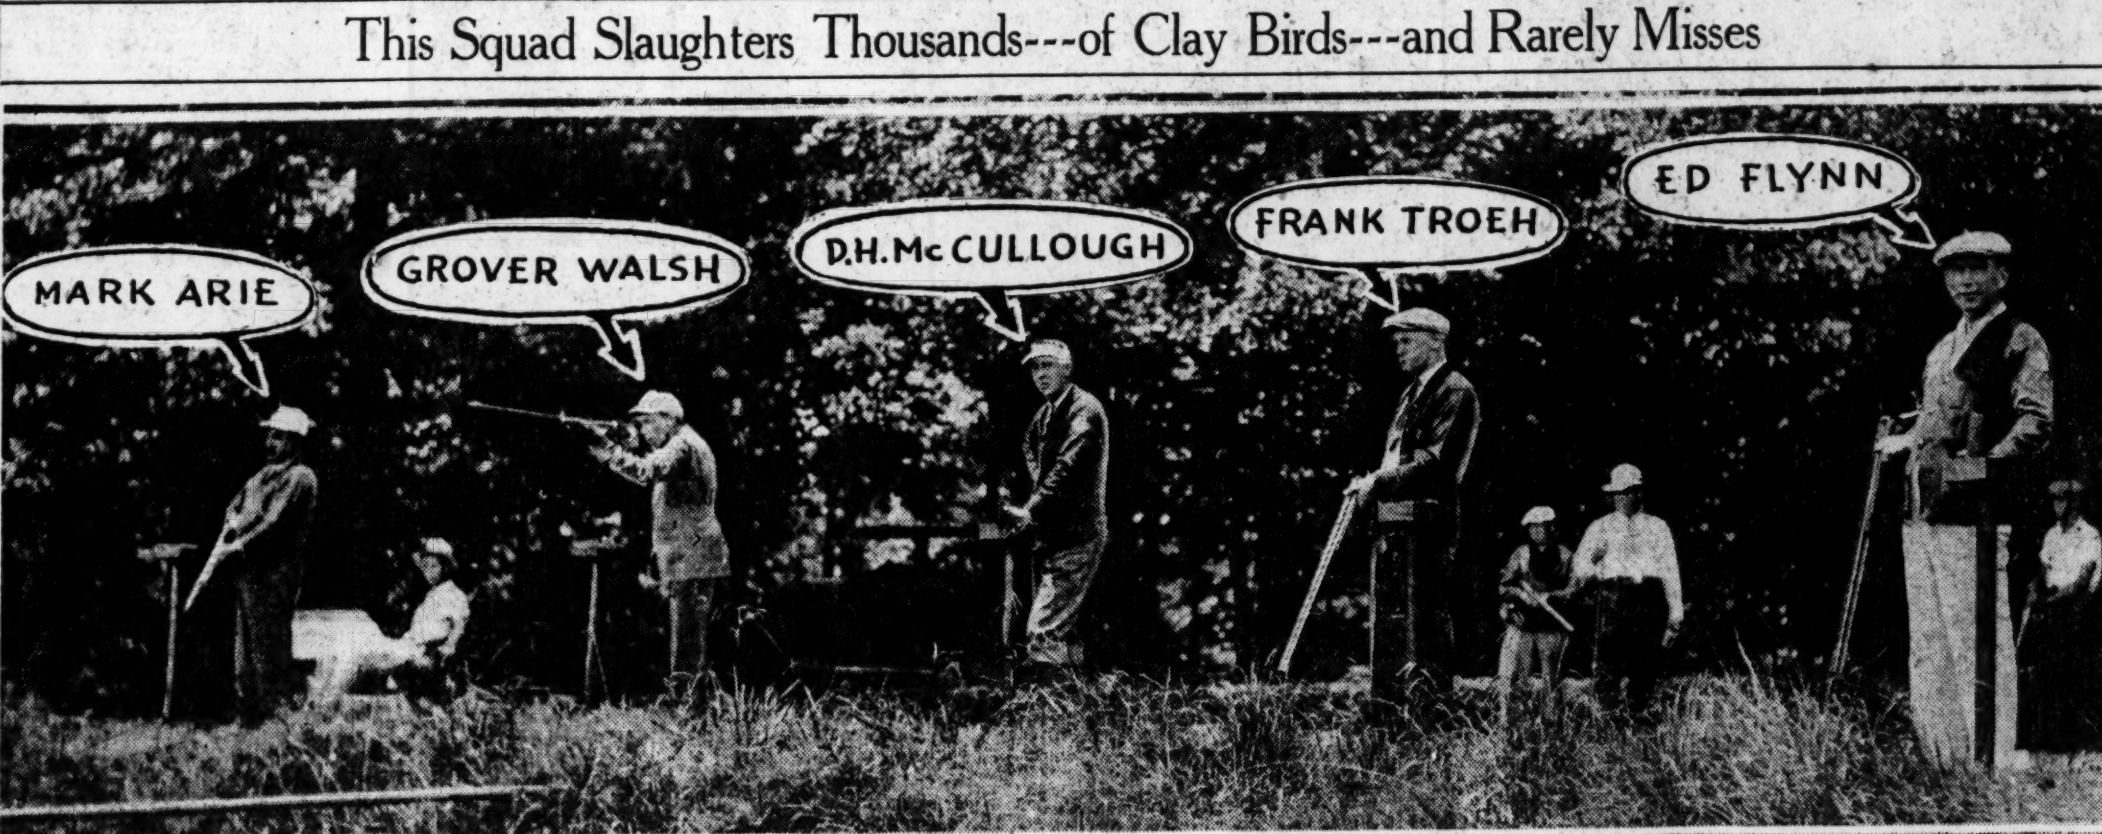

Bryan Grant, city and southern champion, played his best tennis of the year to conquer two formidable opponents.

He defeated H. Dickinson, a Californian, 6-0, 6-2, in the second round and eliminated George Boynton, youthful Atlanta, by the same score to enter the quarter finals.

Dickinson, erratic from lack of practice, displayed a powerful driving game that forced Grant to play a game to a draw before the clever champion could run out the needed points through deep court placements or accurate volleys.

Boynton, calculated an easy victim for Cary Wilmer, former Virginia university player, topped his more experienced opponent in three close sets in the second round earlier in the day.

Bolton took the first set 6-3 and held a lead of 4-2 in the second set when Wilmer staged a seven-game rally to take a 3-0 lead in the deciding set. Boynton, despite his 14 years, displayed an excellent back court ship to run the match out in six straight games.

Here is the squad of "Big Guns" which is attracting much attention at the Southern zone trapshoot in progress this week at the Atlanta Gun Club. Each is a champion.

They rarely miss at singles or doubles. Left to right: Mark Arie, Olympic champion in 1920 and national champion; Grover Walsh, of the New York A. C. and New York state champion; D. H. McCulloch, of Charlotte, N. C., and champion of that state; Frank Troeh, of Portland, Ore., high-over-all champion at the Grand American, and Ed Flynn, of Mobile, defending his title as champion of the Southern zone. These men will be seen in action all this week and Atlantans have an opportunity to see the world's finest shooting.

Chip Robert, Tech athletic official, reveals today for the first time the real reason back of his plan for playing one or two night football games at Grant field. His reasons are printed in another column.

After this year, no Thanksgiving Day games will be played and thereby thousands who work for living will be deprived of the only football game they ever get to see.

Come to think of it, football is a game that draws its crowds from the classes who play bridge and dance Saturday evenings. Other folks know of the game only through the newspapers and radio.

Chip Robert has a genuine hope to popularize football here—and by that he means to widen interest in the game among everyday folk who never went to college. He sees the answer to it in night football.

The objections advanced to playing one or two games each season at night are, of course, nothing but natural resistance of cramped natures to innovations. "Let well enough alone" is a complaint that is as old as the first cross bow, the first field piece, the first steamboat, or the first heavier-than-air flying machine.

RABBITS DIE IN AUGUST.
The baseball is lively until the pitchers get the kinks out of their arms," was the explanation given by John Heydler, president of the National League. "You'll see fewer home runs by second string hitters when hot weather puts the pitchers in shape."

That probably is the best statement of the rabbit ball problem. At any rate it is easier to understand than all the technical information about tension of yarn and cork centers and temperature of balls.

The hymn of hate against the lively ball reaches a peak in the first two months of every season and then dies away to a distant rumble by August, when pitchers get their curves breaking best.

KEEPING TAB.
Two ex-Crackers, Clay Parrish and Dan Boone, are tied for home run honors in the Piedmont league. Clay is the old Petrel star. . . . Jonah White, once a Tech High school third sacker, is leading the Western association in stolen bases with 24 to his credit. . . . Art "Cowboy" McHenry is leading the New York-Pennsylvania league in home runs and Don Sikes is leading hitter with .423 on last averages.

"PHONEY" IS BASEBALL STAR.
"Phoney" Smith, the great Mercer halfback, is being boomed as a major league baseball prospect, according to Jimmy Jones' column in the Macon Telegraph.

"Phoney" was a great football and basketball player, one of the greatest south ever produced, but he always took his baseball lightly.

Yet "Phoney" is playing second base for Huntington, W. Va., and has pieces in the papers about him like this:

"Phoney" Smith, the Dixie Dare Devil, is the most underrated ball player on the local club. He is also the best big league prospect in the Tri-State loop. We have said this before and we'll keep right on saying it until the major league detectives throw a lasso around the famous football halfback and drag him into the 'Fast Set.' Smith can hit. Smith can field. Smith can throw and Smith is smart. 'Phoney' goes around the bases like fire around a celluloid collar.

"Some folks seem to think that Dooly and Meyers are fast. Maybe they are, but we'll bet a yard or two of American money that Mr. 'Phoney' Smith, who has a football stadium named for him down at Macon, Ga., can run rings around the swift merchants from Beckley and Charleston."

PINEY WOODS CALL.
Golfers from Atlanta who attend the state golf championship at Radium Springs almost without exception declared they would go down to Thomasville to play in the eleventh annual Piney Woods championship at Glen Arven.

For ten years golfers from Georgia, Florida and Alabama have tried never to miss the Thomasville event.

WILSON FIGHTS TED GOODRICH Atlanta Theater Scene of Good Fight Card Tonight.

Tot Wilson is eager to see what his new right hand can do against Ted Goodrich's jaw tonight at the Atlanta theater when he and Goodrich meet in one of the three 10-round bouts arranged by Eddie Hanlon, matchmaker.

Wilson has had two fights since his hand was strengthened by an operation and he stretched both his opinions very flat indeed. The hand is stronger than ever and he is going into tonight's fight with a lot of confidence.

While the Goodrich-Wilson fight is expected to produce a great fight, it has nothing on the other three so far as expectations of action are concerned.

Stiles Attaway, one of Atlanta's favorites, has been coming along fast. He recently defeated Willie Pomey and is eager to add Carl Hurley, Columbus, to his string of victims. Hurley, with a lot of hop on his last one, counts Attaway as just another opponent about night football as it may be played now under the latest lighting devices."

As to the demand for the game, Mr. Robert bared the prime reason why night football was being seriously considered now and thereby confirmed changes in the football schedule for 1930.

NO TURKEY DAYS.
The Thanksgiving Day game this year will be the last Thanksgiving game that will be played on Grant field," he said at the Atlanta theater. He will play a game on the Saturday before Thanksgiving Day and the Saturday after. The old date with Auburn will be erased from the calendar and Auburn will be played on another day earlier in the list.

"Tech officials have received many protests over the disposal of the Thanksgiving Day game. Complaints come from friends of Tech who work Saturday afternoons and who see Saturday games as a year—the one on Thanksgiving."

"It is mainly to meet that demand that we are considering staging the opening game of the season at night. Tech hopes to popularize football and hopes to widen the appeal of the game. Just now football in Atlanta is supported by that class of office workers who can get out early enough on Saturdays to attend games. That class is limited. Thousands of workers who never can see Saturday games are kept about Tech football teams."

TRIPLEX OWNER To Try Again
Daytona Beach, Fla., June 24.—(P) J. M. White, Philadelphia sportsman and manufacturer, who built the ill-fated Triplex which formerly held the world's automobile speed record, today substantiated a recent report that he is considering the construction of a new car for another attempt at the world mark on the ocean speedway here.

White, en route to Tampa and St. Petersburg, stopped here to visit friends and have the wreckage of the Triplex, which crashed last March, sent to Philadelphia.

If he builds the new car, a four-wheel drive creation, capable of a potential speed of nearly 300 miles an hour, he will use parts of the old machine, he explained.

White said he had not decided definitely to build the new car, and that if he does, it will not be ready for the 1930 speed trials here this winter.

Portsmouth Pros Say Lumpkin Signed
Portsmouth, Ohio, June 25.—(AP)—Officials of the Portsmouth Spartans, professional football team, today announced that Roy (Father) Lumpkin, Georgia Tech football star, had signed a contract to play with the team next year, and had arrived to begin training. The fury of the Tech backfield, the announcement, said, was regarded as a great strengthening influence for the team.

Lumpkin came today to Portsmouth, and is working as life guard at the Portsmouth swimming pool for training.

Lumpkin's mother reported that her son had left Dallas, Texas, his home, a few days ago for Portsmouth, where he had a job. He was not, she said, going to play professional football.

Robert Sees Demand For Night Football Elimination of Thanksgiving Games in 1930 Deprives Many Fans.

Plans are going forward to stage the opening football game of the season at Grant field under electric lights, L. W. Robert said yesterday on his return from a week-end at Sea Island Beach.

The Tech official was absent from the city when announcement of his plan was made in The Constitution and he missed reading objections voiced by another Atlanta newspaper against the project.

It is probable, Mr. Robert said, that the Mississippi A. & M. game will be played at 8 p. m. on the night of October 5. This, however, is subject to the action of the athletic board, but Mr. Robert feels certain they will approve when the matter is outlined and the facts and figures laid before them.

NOT IMPRACTICAL.
"Coach Alexander spent the week-end with me at Sea Island," Mr. Robert explained. "He told me that sports writers were poking fun at the plan and insisting that there was no demand for it and that it was impractical, anyhow."

"Coach Alex and I talked the matter over and he is much interested in it now. The idea is not original with me nor is it impractical. Such criticism simply means that the critics do not know much about night football as it may be played now under the latest lighting devices."

As to the demand for the game, Mr. Robert bared the prime reason why night football was being seriously considered now and thereby confirmed changes in the football schedule for 1930.

"The Thanksgiving Day game this year will be the last Thanksgiving game that will be played on Grant field," he said at the Atlanta theater. He will play a game on the Saturday before Thanksgiving Day and the Saturday after. The old date with Auburn will be erased from the calendar and Auburn will be played on another day earlier in the list.

"Tech officials have received many protests over the disposal of the Thanksgiving Day game. Complaints come from friends of Tech who work Saturday afternoons and who see Saturday games as a year—the one on Thanksgiving."

"It is mainly to meet that demand that we are considering staging the opening game of the season at night. Tech hopes to popularize football and hopes to widen the appeal of the game. Just now football in Atlanta is supported by that class of office workers who can get out early enough on Saturdays to attend games. That class is limited. Thousands of workers who never can see Saturday games are kept about Tech football teams."

PACK FIELD.
"Night football for the opening game and perhaps for the second game of each season would reach them. Grant field would be filled for that opening game if played at night."

"The alleged counter attraction of bridge and dancing Saturday nights would not keep anybody away and it would bring many thousands into contact with the game whose sole interest has been satisfied hitherto by radio."

"This is 1929, you know. Ice hockey, tennis and basketball are played perfectly at night. The problem of illuminating a football field is merely a matter of money."

FANS BAFFLED BY TRAP KINGS Troeh Is Stylist, While Arie Just Blazes Away at Clays.

By Ed Danforth.
Frank Troeh and Mark Arie, the two greatest trapshooters in America, are competing this week at the Atlanta Gun Club in the southern zone shoot.

Atlanta shooters are baffled in trying to prove their pet theories of the game by watching the two masters at the firing post.

Troeh, the Grand American all-around champion, is the stylist par excellence. Arie, the grand American 16-yard champion, is the hatch-as-catch-can shooter.

The two men are at extremes of form, yet each achieves in his own way the main idea—smashing targets with stunning regularity.

Troeh Stylist
Advocates of a precise method of standing at the post, lifting the gun, coughing it against the shoulder, shifting the weight to meet the recoil, find in Frank Troeh all they hope to be. He is the beau ideal of the graceful, easy, rhythmic shooter.

Those who scoff at style and balance, who favor "up and at 'em" shooting, find in Mark Arie a vigorous witness that form is rubbish.

Both these great guns were in the same squad yesterday and the gallery had a chance to compare their styles.

Angle Figured
Troeh apparently has figured the angle problems presented at each post carefully, for he stands exactly the same way at each station. At No. 1 he stands to the right with the post at his hip pocket. He stands to the right at No. 2 and No. 3, and to the left of Nos. 4 and 5. The position of his feet with reference to the trap-house varies as he moves along the line.

Troeh sets his feet carefully, meticulously. Once set he stands easily and never moves his feet. There is none of the stiff, frozen attitude of bending forward as he calls for the target. He lifts the gun smoothly, settles it and calls "Pull" distinctly. Yet on the call his gun never moves; he rumbles it internally without moving abdominal muscles.

He fires moderately fast at singles. Then he breaks the gun, blows through the barrel to clear it of smoke, upturns the piece and runs his left hand along the barrel with the same motion and returns the piece to normal loading position.

Always the same movements: rarely does Troeh vary his formula. In trapshooting he is as much the easy stylist as Bobby Jones is in golf.

Arie No Style
Mark Arie, big and bluff, seems to have no set style of firing. He just loads up, and blazes away when the target flies out. When he bellows "Pull," his gun wavers like Babe Ruth's bat. He stands anywhere at the post and has no pet preliminary movements.

"I just bang away at 'em and miss plenty," Arie says. "The only thing that can be said about my style is that I am a cold weather shooter. I just can't see them when it's hot."

His score for 200 targets, however, belies that statement.

Great Squad
Arie is one of the few men who ever held the official world's championship. He won the Olympic title in 1900.

THREE OWNERS OPPOSE MOVE FOR NEW START

Barons, Vols, Chicks Dissent—Martin Says Vote Not Asked.

By Ralph McGill.
Those Southern association baseball owners who are drowning in the sea of poor attendance, clutched at the straw of a split season last night and went down with a loud, gurgling noise.

It was probably the same straw that broke the camel's back, set off the backbone of the Allen-Spiller effort to obtain a split season in the Southern league was apparently broken last night. The attendance was shed all over the place by opposition blows from Memphis, Birmingham and Nashville.

It appears that the boys had best sharpen up their spurs and set out in the seemingly hopeless task of overtaking the Birmingham Barons before fall. The attendance may grow smaller and smaller and the interest fall away to a few mild chirps. But the season will continue on in an interrupted journey.

LITTLE HOPE.
There was just a slim ray of hope, Tom Watkins, of the Memphis Chickasaws, said that the copy of the constitution said that a unanimous vote was necessary. This was not confirmed.

John D. Martin, in a telephone message to The Constitution, refused to make any comment. "I cannot say whether it would require a unanimous vote or not," he said, "I have not had the matter brought to my attention and therefore cannot say anything about it."

The Constitution polled the league last night and with all precincts reached from the split season plan was apparently completely out of the race. R. J. Spiller was of the opinion that a three-fourths vote was enough. Even that majority could not be mustered.

ONE CHANCE.
The plan sponsored by Bob Allen appears doomed. But that doesn't mean that the plan is a ray of hope. If the situation looks bad enough and if a split season will save the league some loss the boys will be sensible and split the season. Of course they will.

Right now, though, the plan seems doomed. For a time-old man S. Season ran right well. That was out in the country. Martin was in the city. Little Rock thought it was the only thing to do. Atlanta, with R. J. Spiller as president, has always favored a split season. Chattanooga said, "Yes," said When Jules Heinemann, over at New Orleans, said he recognized that times were hard and was willing to split the season, the league looked fine for old Judge S. Season. He had carried three country precincts and a city.

Then came the adverse vote. Birmingham was in the city. Quack Smith over at Birmingham. "Why, the very idea. Of course not." (Editorial Note: Birmingham is leading the league by a nice margin.)

VOLS OPPOSE.
Right on the heels of that came the word from Nashville that the Vols were dead set against it. (Editorial Note: The Vols are in second place.)

No sooner had the news from Nashville arrived than the ballot box from Memphis was opened. It was awful. A time Watkins came right out on a point of view. "I don't want to see the world block it. 'It hasn't a chance," said Tom Watkins. "It requires a unanimous vote and I'm against it already."

(Editorial Note: The Memphis club is in the first division.)

The second division clubs were heartily in favor of the move. New Orleans was the only first division club to favor it.

Allen tried the split season last year and it was not a success. Meeting with general disfavor, it was unanimously repealed at the meeting last winter.

Brown Blanks Crackers, 2-0.
New Orleans, June 24.—Larry Gilbert shifted his lineup—the infield part of it—around more than it has been shifted this season, and, while the new move may not have been responsible for the Pelicans' 2-to-0 victory over the Crackers in the second game of the series, in the words of the old farmer whose wife gave him half a cup of whisky instead of tea, "It didn't do no harm."

Clint Brown, who pitched for the Pelicans, did more than chivvy the orphans. He enameled them. Two hits, one of which was a line drive which the high shifting winds caused "Red" Borman to misjudge (the sort of fly "Red" usually catches without a struggle) totaled the Atlanta attack and both hits were made by the young collegian, Bob Parrham, a recent addition to the orphan squad. Parrham's single was an out and out hit, a pip of a drive over short.

IN HARE FORM.
Brown walked one man and then not until one was down in the ninth. The young Pelican rightshander never was in better form and showed rare

Flint, Mich., June 24.—(P)—Young Stribling tonight won a technical knockout victory over California Jack Lee, of Los Angeles, in the eighth round of a 10-round bout. Stribling won every round and at the bell for the ninth Lee was bleeding so badly at the mouth that he refused to allow a fight to continue. Each weighed 181.

Cubs Win, 4 to 3, and Cut Pirates' Lead to Game and Half

WILSON, CUYLER, HORNSBY CLOUT CIRCUIT BLOWS

Athletics Beat Red Sox To Increase Lead in American.

Chicago's Cubs went on another home-run-hitting spree today, beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3, and reduced the latter's lead in the National league race to one and one-half games.

Ervin Brame held the Cubs to eight hits, but homers by Kiki Cuyler, Hack Wilson and Rogers Hornsby accounted for enough rallies to win. Charlie Root was touched for ten safeties, including a circuit clout by Brame in the fifth.

Jumbo Clark and Morrison allowed the New York Giants only six hits between them, and the Brooklyn Dodgers won at the Polo Grounds, 5 to 2. Freddie Lindstrom's homer in the first accounted for the Giants' two runs.

With the Braves leading, 2 to 1, in the third, rain interrupted the Philadelphia-Boston game at Braves' field.

The Philadelphia Athletics increased their lead in the American league race, beating the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 1, while the Yankees were idle.

Barrett and Gaston, of the Sox, did the home run hitting for the day.

Earl Averill, classy Cleveland rookie, hit two homers during the slaughter of the Browns by the Indians, 10 to 4. Falk and J. Sewell also hit for the circuit.

The Detroit Tigers went on a batting rampage, defeating the White Sox, 13 to 4.

PITTSBURGH, June 24.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who were leading the National league race, were cut to one and one-half games behind the Chicago Cubs today.

VANDY TENNIS STAR IN SPOT

Don Cram Upsets Favorite in Intercollegiate Net Tourney.

Haverford, Pa., June 24.—Donald Cram, of Vanderbilt university, who as the son of a Methodist missionary, learned to play tennis in Korea, pushed himself to the center of the stage in the intercollegiate tennis championships today.

The sure-fire racket and sturdy legs of the 130-pound youth created the one big upset of the tournament by defeating Bradshaw Harrison, of the University of Oregon, who was seeded No. 7 and considered the dark horse champion of the 107 who started competition.

In a tournament last week Harrison upset Julius Seligson, of Lehigh university, the defending champion, in straight sets, but today Seligson rode over two opponents, landing safely in the third round while Harrison was left by the wayside. One of Seligson's victims was Maurice Bazon, Tulane, whom he defeated 6-2, 6-2.

The other designated favorites moved ahead unopposed with Emmett Lane, of Georgetown university, seeded No. 8, setting the pace by resting in the fourth round as a result of two victories.

July 4 Tourney At Thomasville

Thomasville, Ga., June 24.—The eleventh annual invitation golf tournament, put on for the Fourth of July by the Glen Arvon Country Club, of Thomasville, will get under way next Monday, on which day all entrants will play in the 18-hole qualifying round, and the 50 lowest scores will be assigned, in their order, to one or the other of the five flights of 10. The 10 lowest scores make up the first flight, which is played for the Piney Woods championship of the southeast.

Washington Park To Close Saturday

Chicago, June 24.—(AP)—The Washington park racing season will close with the running of the $10,000 Francis S. Peabody handicap Saturday, but Chicago fans only have to shift their attention to Arlington park, which opens next Monday. The closing feature at Washington park is expected to bring together the best field that has gone to the post for an all-age stake this season.

Red Barron Bucks Diamond Precedent

Famous Tech Halfback Attempts To Make Good in Baseball—Many Try and Fail.

(Note: Following is a story by Thomas Holmes, of the Brooklyn Eagle, concerning Red Barron, now with the Braves.) Boston, June 24.—The three wise men of Boston—Judge Emil Fuchs, Henery Gowdy and Jawn Evers—are highly dissatisfied with the outfield that played such grand ball back in April. That mighty genius, Heine Mueller, seldom emerges from the obscurity of the dugout. Neither does George Washington Hough, who has ridden the wood while the three wise men have experimented with new material. Earl Clark, the lumber Virginian, stays in center field pretty regularly.

Jimmy Welsh, retrieved from the Giants, whither he wandered in a half payment for Rogers Hornsby a little more than a year ago, was put right to work. Whether John McGraw likes Welsh or not, the fact remains that he is probably the best of the present Boston outfielders, with the single exception of Kitchburg.

Boston's other newcomer is Red Barron, who has been the property of the Braves, off and on, for a couple of years. He had been vacationing at the Providence farm of the Boston club when recalled a few days ago.

"GOLDEN TORNADO." Mr. Barron is one of the huge collection of college football stars in professional ball. Red is the celebrated Georgia Tech halfback of six or eight years ago, the brilliant and accomplished ace of the original "Golden Tornado."

He is a football coach back in dear old Georgia when the leaves begin to fall and the dull plunk of the booted pigskin resounds through the autumn atmosphere.

It is hardly likely that Mr. Barron will ever attain any great glory in the major leagues. He has dubbed around in the bushes too long since leaving college. I Red were anything but a fair minor league outfielder it would have been discovered some time within the last four or five years.

MUCH COMPANY. Over a period of time Barron has plenty of company. The talented football star who makes a howling success of professional baseball is an extremely rare bird. A couple of chaps like Lou Gehrig and Frank Frisch were mighty good football players in college, but even on the campus, they were more famous for their diamond achievements. Gehrig was a substitute backfield man at Columbia in between seasons of pitching the sons of fair Morning-side to victory. Frisch played a mean and nasty quarterback for Fordham and once received honorable mention on one of Walter Camp's All-American teams.

Kreis Breaks 196 in Class Singers of Southern Zone Shoot

Great Field Trails Tenn. Trap Ace

Nationally Known Shooters Compete in Meet Here—McKenzie Has Trouble.

By Dick Hawkins.

John A. Kreis, the "roaring governor" from Knoxville, Tenn., blasted himself to lasting fame Monday at the zone championship when he led the entire field in the 200 class singles with a score of 196 to 200.

This feat is particularly pleasing to Kreis because of the fact that his competition included such international stars as Frank Troch, Mark Arie, Paul Earle and a host of southern stars who hold scores of championships, both local and national.

The be-moustached giant went out in the morning with a magnificent 99 in the race of adverse target conditions and came back in the afternoon with a 100 for a total of 199. Kreis meant little to the huge Knoxville ace, who, in the third division but triumphed over the entire field.

With the conclusion of the first day's program at the Atlanta Gun Club at least one thing is certain. Never in the history of the event has the field ever comprised of a more colorful or more expert list of individuals. Even Arthur Cascadon, renowned professional, who has attended more shoots than Mr. Carter has remedies, declares that the field is the greatest he has ever seen at a zone shoot.

In addition to Frank Troch and Mark Arie, ranked among the international amateurs, the squad sheet contains such names as John Noel, Nashville star, who was a member of the Olympic team in 1912; Forrest McNair, Texas amateur who has won more than one national title and half a score of other national figures.

TROCH IS THIRD. Troch was third in the race with a score of 194 and he led the highest class while Forrest McNair, the Texas star, led class A with a 105; Ed Flynn, Mobile ace, and J. B. Royal, former game commissioner of Florida, were tied for second money in class A with 192 each.

Second in class B was Charles Bourque, of Opelousa, La., who cracked 187. His score, which is about normal for a class B shooter, serves to emphasize the great feat of Kreis in leading the entire field with 196.

In class C Mrs. W. P. Andrews, Atlanta woman star who was national feminine champion, tied for first place with Joe Cotnam and Mrs. Andrews won the shoot-off with a beautiful straight run of 25 to take the trophy.

CLASS D WINNER. C. W. Dunlop, of Butaw, Ala., led class D by two targets. When he smashed 170 in his two strings, Dr. Jess Wright, Atlanta veteran who has just returned to the trapshooting game after a long absence, was second, with a total of 177.

Dr. J. Q. Brantley, another Atlanta veteran, proved that his recent illness worked little harm with a score of 173. Jimmy Walsh, son of the famous New York amateur, was second in the class with 170. Greer Walsh, who veteran, finished well up in the class A.

For no particular reason at all, a number of good shooters who have been well up in the money failed to make the grade. Among these are such stars as W. F. Taylor, Louisiana champion, who finished with 167; W. H. Lanier, several times state champion from Augusta, fell down badly in the morning to break 87 and his 97 in the afternoon served only to put him in a tie for 22nd place.

MCKENZIE IN TROUBLE. Harold McKenzie, Atlanta ace who has held nearly every important title in the south at one time or another, found trouble on both strings and finished with a total of 190. Mark Arie, one-time Olympic champion and one of the finest artists in the game, couldn't get going all day long and his total on the singles was but 188.

The practice doubles, which have no bearing on the championship, found Ed Flynn, present zone champion, leading with a score of 47x50, while W. R. Beckwith, of Tampa, was second with 44x50. Frank Troch, C. Hofman, Paul Earle and Forrest McNair all broke 44 and this gave McNair an advantage of one bird over Kreis on all targets for the day. The trophy is given to the shooter who, however, his efforts gained him little but satisfaction.

CUCADEN PLACES. But three professionals took part in the singles competition and none was eligible for trophies or money. Fred Tomlin, of Glasboro, N. J., led the trio with a fine score of 194, while Arthur Cascadon was second with 170. The chubby powder representative has lost some of his old-time magic at the traps, as his score will indicate, but without him a southern shoot would be without one of its most familiar and most favored faces. M. C. Seabon, genial Atlanta professional, was third in the group on the singles.

Beginning at 9 o'clock this morning the southern zone singles championship will be shot. This event consists of 200 15-foot targets and first prize will be given to ladies and professionals as well as the masculine amateurs. In the afternoon today another 25 pair of practice doubles will

THE SPONTANEOUS POKER

The Hardest Shot.

The hardest shot in golf will be played at Winged Foot tomorrow. It will be played by each of the 150 or more entries. And it will be the first drive from the first tee. Getting that first drive away to leave one a fair, open shot for the green means a lot. And it means a lot just as the nervous system is replete with tension before the mechanism of the swing under pressure has been oiled up by action. The first hole at Winged Foot is a dog-leg type that calls for both direction and distance. One must hit the ball hard and straight to have a fair crack at the green. Some good golfer might take a 5 or a 6 at this hole and still win the championship, but a 5 or 6 won't help him any or soothe his feelings. For after a bad start there comes a matter or two of pressure all the rest of the way. And bad holes are hard to make up at Winged Foot, where pars are none too easy to earn.

That first one in cold blood—with the ball galley looking on—is not the simplest thing in sport. They all know the quality of this field—Jones, Hagen, the two Smiths, Armour, Farrell, Sarazen, Diegel, Cruikshank, Melhorn, Turney, MacFarland, on Elm, Voigt, Cooper, Burke, Watrous, Espinoza, Dudley—and the list is only a sample.

For there will be the unknown outside of their own home towns, and many of these are good. Some nearly unknown always seems to lead the opening march. He may not be able to last the route—but he has his day.

And they are all praying for a 4 on that first hole—a hole that can double pressure later on if badly played.

There will be many a pulse quivering on that first tee. And many of them won't stop quivering until Saturday afternoon, just before sunset.

An open golf championship is the greatest test of nerves in sport—not nerve perhaps—but nerves. Which at times means the same thing.

The Two Known Quantities.

There are two known quantities connected with the meeting between Paulino and Schmeling, in the battle that is supposed to nominate the next challenger for the heavyweight championship.

One is that Paulino can take it in astonishing quantities and the other is that Schmeling can give it with his right hand.

Paulino has been a remarkable catcher, without the use of a mask, but only a fair pitcher. He did no great damage to Heeney or Risko or most of the others he has met in the last two years.

Yet it must be admitted that he had to throw his gloves against some tough fortifications in the person of Grogan, Heeney and Risko. One of the unknown quantities concerns Schmeling's ability to stand up under a few punches. Paulino can hit hard enough to prove the durability of the German's chin and body, and if neither is rugged Herr Schmeling will have little chance. It is hard to believe that any one or two blows will bring Paulino down, no matter who may be throwing them in.

And he can wear down an opponent in fifteen rounds who doesn't happen to have a complete share of stamina.

If Paulino wins it will be no great feat for the championship test, since his stuff is pretty well known and he hasn't shown sufficient boxing ability and punching power to stir up any great excitement. He will have to show a vast improvement to be rated as a heavyweight champion later, no matter how many pounds of rugged fiber his system may carry.

If Schmeling can win by a knockout or by an aggressive show of punching he will have a better chance to steam things up later on. He hasn't been around so long and he also has a better chance to pick up new stuff and show a big improvement in the next six months.

Schmeling would be a better card against either Sharkey or Dempsey than Paulino would be, unless, as suggested before, the Spaniard has a number of new acts to offer in the coming scrimmage.

Farrell's Hard Week-End.

Farrell faces the hardest job any champion in sport can tackle. There is no other sport where the odds against the champion defending his title are 7 or 8 to 1 and possibly higher.

If he can win again he will be the first open champion to defend a title since Johnny McDermott repeated in 1912, which seems to be something like seventeen years ago.

An open golf champion who wins one year has to face ten or twelve rivals the next year, just about as good as he is. And this doesn't include fifteen or twenty others who may be good enough to hit a streak and upset the apple cart.

Farrell is a fine golfer and a winning one, but this Winged Foot field is literally cluttered up with other fine golfers who have also shown their ability to win—such golfers as Jones, Hagen, Horton Smith, Mac Smith, Melhorn, Diegel, Armour and Sarazen.

The first championship is always the hardest, yet few ever win as many as two. Of those now entered, Hagen has two and Jones has two. Farrell, Sarazen, Barnes, Armour, MacFarland and McLeod have only one. It has been seven years since Sarazen won at Skokie and he has never been able to crowd in another.

Yet Farrell may find the strain lighter this June than he found it a year ago, although the pressure is rarely light. Willie MacFarland was the most careful of the winning champions when he pulled through at Worcester in 1925, but Willie is a good bit that way most of the time.

steadiness in pitching his way out of a nasty jam in the sixth inning when, with the score standing 1 to 0 in favor of the Pelicans, an Atlanta run looked menacing, and as Parham had opened the inning with the blow which whizzed over Dorman's head for three bags, it didn't seem likely Brown could be able to keep up his white-washing and perhaps Clinton owes his good fortune round little Ernie Padgett. Because right after Parham inflied drive on the grass, Sheehan slammed a hot smash just to the left of Padgett. Out shot the little Pelican's glove hand, the ball kicked up Padgett, as he ran a direct hit, struck Padgett's glove, dropped and was picked up again in the fraction of a second—plenty of time to chase Parham back to third and to throw out Sheehan at first.

Brown appreciated that, as he retired the next two batters on ground, he had to pitch to Dorman at first base. That was the big thrill of the game—that sixth.

Joe Kiefer, a short right-hander, hurled fair ball for the orphans, except in the seventh, but even then he kept the ball registered just one run on four hits.

KIEPER GOES GOOD. The birds could do nothing at all with Kiefer until their fifth, which Padgett opened with a two-bagger to right. Pete Mendon brought him home on a single to left. Brown sacrificed and Dorman and Powers were easy outs.

Main stopped the game for 15 minutes in the Pel's seventh, during which round the locals scored their second run. Bolton, first up, doubled to right and scored on a single by Padgett, who was out at second trying to make an extra base on the throw and though Brown and Dorman singled, the side was retired when Powers forced Dorman at second.

For five whole innings it was three up and three down for the Atlanta. Parham was left at third in the sixth. Brown returned to his one, two, three work, the Pelicans scored, and Kiefer for Kiefer to start the ninth but fled to right. Oldham, hitting for Silva, drew the first pass off Brown, but Bladen, who ran for Oldham, was forced at second by Jones and Burns popped to second.

BASQUE IS SURE OF DEFEATING MAX SCHMELING

Uzcudun, Stout, Tough, Is in Good Trim for Thursday Bout.

By Walter Trumbull.

Hoosick Falls, N. Y., June 24.—Nobody could fail to like that child of the Basque country, Paulino Uzcudun.

The world for him is a place filled with sunshine and friends and food, money to be earned and fights and fights to be won. He is a matter of fact, for anyone with Latin temperament can be very sad, indeed, but I think that for little Paul the clouds soon sweep away to distance, in the main, is a joyous thing.

There is a great difference between Max Schmeling's training camp and Paulino's. At Lakewood, on a place where horses are bred and trained, large open spaces are needed. The outdoor platform where Schmeling works might be a judge's stand.

But Paulino has been working on a raised floor surrounded by green trees and covered by a canvas roof. It might be a test at a French fair, but his imagination is not of that order. Paulino has finished his boxing, Bonanova, the Spanish opera singer, mounted the stage and sang a song composed by little Paul's mother, and then Dan Healy muscled the spectators with one of his Broadway famous dances.

HAPPY SUPPORTERS. When Paulino Uzcudun was sitting happily on the porch of the little cottage he uses for himself and his cotte teeth showing in a wide smile, he was surrounded by friends and trainers, discussing volubly in English, Spanish, French and Greek, laughing, joking, gesticulating. They were all happy, and Paulino was happy about it. To them it is merely a question of time when Uzcudun will be recognized as heavyweight champion of the world.

Schmeling may hit him with that famous right hand, but what of it? They have seen him hit with right hands before. Even Paulino feels the same way about it.

"I expect to stop a lot of right-hand punches on Thursday with my well-laid left," he said. "Yes, I think I will stop plenty." And he grinned, as if rights to the head were very amusing.

When I first went to his room he was putting on his shoes in preparation for his last boxing workout before the fight. As he leaned over, his sturdy back and powerful shoulders showed their rippling muscles, nobody could doubt the strength of that thickset body.

IN SHAPE. "You look in shape," I said. "How is your wind? How is your endurance?"

"I am fine," he replied. "I am strong; feel good. I weigh 193 pounds. I am very well."

"Then a 15-round fight suits me?" I asked him.

"Fifteen rounds will suit me good," he said. "But I do not know how well I will suit Max, and I don't know how well he will suit me. I don't know how well we will suit each other. I don't know how well we will suit the crowd. I don't know how well we will suit the world."

I explained that Mr. Gimbel was not, to my knowledge, concealed anywhere in the place. Paulino met him in Spain and regards him as one of his leading friends and patrons. Then the Basque, accompanied by his manager, Arthur, and his chief handler, Bertie Perry, went out to where the crowd was waiting.

FOUR ROUNDS. "He thinks that he is going to box six rounds today," explained Arthur, "but he really will box only with Howard and Deauve. When Touchstone is in there with him, they do not box—they fight, and I would be foolish to let him take the slightest chance at this date. Perhaps he might get a cue ball who can tell? It would not be sensible."

Paulino is never impressive when sparring. He practices or plods after his opponent, seeking to get in close enough to deliver a couple of good belts with the big gloves, and paying small attention to any jabs or hooks that he directs.

In the Basque's last ring work he showed plenty of strength and energy, frequently snorting as he indulged in extra effort. I have heard critics to the effect that he is short-winded, but he did not appear so to me. His wind seemed good.

Paulino carries his right glove and forearm across his body, as a sort of barrier, and fights from behind it. His left fist carries low, which would make it make him a user for a right hand. So he would be, if he didn't also tuck his chin behind his left shoulder and give his opponent little chance to get his hand on a target. I have been hit and hit hard, but so far not hard enough to do lasting damage.

IMPERVIOUS TO PUNCHES. Otto Von Port, Knute Hansen and other have socked Paulino with all they had, but he bounced back at them like a rubber ball thrown against a wall. He expects to be hit, but he also expects to do a little hitting himself. And he doesn't let anyone tell him that Paulino doesn't pack a wallop. Harry Wills can testify that he does, and so can others.

Perhaps the reason Paulino doesn't stop more opponents is that he is essentially a body fighter. Anyone who stands still and lets the Basque sock him as I saw him sock the heavy bag, is likely to let the birdies sing.

Paulino, by the way, is a rather good bag puncher. He can make the light bag do a fine tattoo. Touchstone, Demave and Buddy Howard all told me that the Basque can hit, but they did not wholly agree regard how easy it was to hit him. Howard, former amateur champion, declared that it was far from easy to hit Paulino with a right hand anywhere except on the top of the head.

Benny Touchstone said that he could hit Uzcudun with a right, but admitted that it sometimes took some time to work him into position for the blow.

DISAPPOINTED. Paulino seemed deeply disappointed that he was not permitted to carry his feud with Touchstone further. When he had boxed his final round with Howard and Demave, he stood in the ring and pounded his gloves together like a boy who has finished the main course of a meal and is waiting eagerly for dessert. When Arthur told him that would be all, he scowled and commenced to argue in Spanish.

"Where is the other one?" he demanded. "I am not through. I wish the other one."

But Arthur was firm and Paulino had to content himself with shadow boxing, punching the bag and doing some work with Indian clubs. Uzcudun is almost six feet in height, but looks much shorter, partly

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Three members of the Big Six who did get into action yesterday turned in good hitting jobs. Jimmy Foxx and Paul Waner each hit twice in four times at bat, while Rogers Hornsby got one hit. The 300 average for the day did Foxx little good, hitting his mark but one point to 405. Waner rose from .332 to .335. Hornsby lost a little ground, going from .342 to .341. Frank O'Doul, the other member scheduled to play yesterday, was stopped by rain after the Phillies-Braves game had gone three innings.

Fort Polo Team Defeats Guards

Fort McPherson and the Horse Guards tangled in a polo game at the post Monday afternoon in a game slated for Sunday, but rained out. After eight fast chukkers, Fort McPherson had won by a score of 9 to 5.

The game began with McPherson scoring first and the army four kept adding to its lead steadily. The Horse Guards got going towards the middle of the game but were unable to catch up. Both teams played steady polo with the teamwork of each the predominating factor and there were no outstanding players.

The Fort Benning team will arrive at McPherson Wednesday and will play a series of matches with the details for a series of matches will be worked out with Benning. Horse Guards and McPherson teams to participate.

Thrilling Regatta Won by Columbia

Four Shells Overturned by Rough Waters—125,000 Watch Gruelling Race.

By George Kirksey.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 24.—(United News.)—Ploughing through the treacherous water of the Hudson river, which sank four of the nine crews entered in the thirty-second intercollegiate regatta, Columbia won back the supremacy of intercollegiate rowing here tonight.

Young Dick Glendon's iron-hearted New York youngsters stuck to their oars through some of the toughest going in history to finish three and a half lengths ahead of Washington. Columbia's time was 22 minutes, 58 seconds and Washington's 23:08 4-5. Far behind the two leaders came Pennsylvania, Navy and Wisconsin in that order.

FOUR SHELLS SINK. The other four varsity crews—Syracuse, M. I. T., Cornell and California—failed to finish, the oarsmen abandoning the race after smashing through water overturned their shells.

M. I. T. was the first shell to go down, sinking before the two-mile mark was reached. After passing the bridge—one mile from the finish line—Syracuse, California and Cornell went under. All of the oarsmen from the four schools died into the river and were rescued by police launches.

Jean Barrios, the dean of female impersonators, sopranoed his way into the hearts of customers at Loew's Capitol theater Monday afternoon. His 15-minute span, included a glittering fashion review.

Vining with the impersonator for headline position, Sol Gould and talented aides are offering the clever and ever-mystifying "Vanishing Maid" act, which has to do with the "crumbling and reappearing of a live statue right before your eyes. Attractive singing and dancing specialties are also featured.

Jack Layler, in a combination of song, acrobatics and monologue, a caricature sketch, "The Explorer," and a revue, "The Realm of Dance," complete the stage show, which is, as a whole, above par.

The screen menu provides the silent vehicle, "A Man's Man," with William Haines, Josephine Dunn, May Busch and Sam Hardy. As a "different story of Hollywood," it has to do with a "30-a-week soda clerk and his movie-crazed wife, who both are victimized by a shrewd old stock faker. The revenge angle is in the form of a fictitious, artistically administered by Bill—T. K. JONES.

"ROAD TO RUIN" DEPICTS EVILS OF MODERN DAYS

"The Road to Ruin," a Mrs. Wallace Reid production, being shown at the Rialto this week, depicts the evils which are likely to befall modern youth. The first show, which is a picture was received with enthusiasm at a midnight show Sunday night.

Candidly advertised as a "moral lesson," the production shows how a high school girl is misled by a more experienced companion and pictures the results of her missteps.

Helen Foster, a newcomer who is one of the latest group of Baby Wampus stars, gives a creditable performance as the innocent girl who is influenced by her chum. The male lead is played by Grant Withers, while several other young players are included in the cast.

Children under 16 are not admitted to the Rialto this week.—BOB SHERROD.

CAPTURE HONORS ON KEITH'S BILL

Although their act was not billed as the feature, Howard Kane and Corel Ellis easily capture first awards in the week's vaudeville program which opened at Keith's Georgia Monday afternoon. In addition to the unusually good vaudeville there is one of the season's biggest screen hits, "Divorce Made Easy," on the silver screen.

The Kane and Ellis act brought a continuous round of laughter and applause from the audience. Any person who fails to get a real "kick" out of this act is certainly hard to please. There are very few words spoken, but there is action and plenty of it.

Another of the features on the program is "The Plasterers," with Charles O'Donnell and Ethel Blair in the spotlight. Their "wisecracks" are up-to-date and their singing and dance number aided materially to the value of the act.

Miss Madeline Patrice, a vocal student of the late Enrico Caruso, presented an interesting act of singing, piano playing and violin selections.

The opening act of the bill, featuring six beautiful young women, was unusual and interesting. It was entitled "Six Rockets," and consisted of athletic beauties in picturesque novelties on Roman ladders, and a number of "hand springs" and acrobatic "stunts."

Douglas MacLean and Marie Prevost are featured in "Divorce Made Easy," on the screen. The picture deals with a friend trying to help out his newly married "buddy" in getting a divorce in order to inherit a "large fortune."

A newsreel and an all-talkie comedy complete the bill.

GEORGE BANCROFT
IN HOWARD FILM

The broad-shouldered, deep-voiced George Bancroft scores another twofold success in the current bill at the Howard theater. "Thunderbolt," the film is called, which is as good as any other name for a picture centering entirely around one strong character.

A lot of unimpressive ballyhoo about "two strong men who love a beautiful girl" proves to be decidedly unnecessary, since the able Mr. Bancroft carries the story without any outside help or interference. The "Thunderbolt" is equally forceful as a master gangster and a bullying convict.

A hard-boiled gunman, getting careless about choosing his company in public, finally is landed behind the bars with a death sentence. The honest young working man who "stole the girl" finds himself in the opposite cell as a result of a frame-up, and then complications begin. There is really some high quality entertainment before the picture is over, and a very satisfactory one to everyone, except the warden.

Bancroft is a popular star, regardless of the picture he is in. "Thunderbolt," shows him at his best, and the novel setting within a prison death-house makes the production one entirely worth going to see.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN No. 14

Before them, directly in the middle of the path, stood "El Adra," the black lion. His green eyes looked very wicked as he bared his teeth and lashed his sides with his angry tail. Then he roared that terror-inspiring roar of the hungry lion, "Your knife," said Tarzan to the girl. "Quick."

As his fingers closed on the hilt, Tarzan pushed the girl behind him, bidding her flee. "It is useless," she replied resignedly. "This is the end!" Now the ape-man stood, half crouching. The lion Arab knight glinted in the moonlight. The lion sprang. Agile and lightning-quick, Tarzan leaped aside.

Amazed, the watching girl was transfixed at the ease with which Tarzan eluded the great paws. And now—Oh, Allah!—he had rushed behind "El Adra's" shoulder and grasped it by the mane, before the lion could even turn! The great beast reared upon its hind legs. Tarzan knew it would do this—and was ready!

A giant arm encircled the black-maned throat. A dozen times a sharp blade darted in and out behind its shoulders. When Tarzan of the Apes at last released his hold and arose, the lion was dead. Then the daughter of the desert witnessed a thing that terrified her even more than the presence of "El Adra."
